POWER COMPANY GAINS BIG POINT IN TALLULAH SUIT

Lands in Gorge Included in State's Grant in 1818-19, Declares Professor Charles Strahan.

COMPANY'S ATTORNEYS CLAIM CASE IS WON

Head of University's Surveying Party Says Disputed Lines Extend to Brink of River.

By J. Walter LeCraw,
Staff Correspondent.

Clayton, Ga., May 27.—(Special.)—Presenting in detail the evidence gathered by the University of Georgia's survey party of March, 1912, Professor Charles M. Strahan, head of the department of civil engineering, exploded a bomb in Tallulah Falls land suit this afternoon. Professor Strahan submitted evidence to indicate that all of the disputed land lot lines, except three, extend to the Tallulah river, and that even these three lines reach well down the side of the gorge and almost to the river's brink. This evidence, say lawyers for the power company will practically give them the case.

Professor Strahan was one of the leaders of the party of the University of Georgia that surveyed the land in 1912, by order of the governor. The witness was introduced by state's attorneys and occupied the stand for nearly two hours of the afternoon session.

Land Included in Grant.

He identified blue prints and survey records showing in detail grounds covered by his party, and he frankly stated that the finding of his survey indicated that practically all lands in the gorge had been included in the grant by the state in 1881-1819.

There were thirteen land lot lines he described, ten extending to the river, and the fact that the other three did not reach the water he laid to inaccuracies of the old survey due to obstacles in the way of the survey party at the time.

He Denies Contention.

Professor Strahan specifically stated that none of the land lot lines stopped at the top of the gorge, which had been the contention of the Tallulah Falls Conservation association in its campaign before the legislature, which resulted in the authorizing of the present suit.

Professor John C. Koch, who was also one of the leaders in the surveying party, will testify at the opening of Wednesday's session, and it is understood that his testimony will be practically the same as that of Professor Strahan.

The evidence given by Professor Strahan had not been laid before the legislature at the time the suit was ordered. It was known to Attorney General Felder, however, at the time he advised the governor against the suit, and was his main reason for so advising.

May Appeal Case.

After Judge J. B. Jones had overruled the state's demurrer to the answer of the Georgia Railway and Power company in the Tallulah Falls land suit, Attorney General Felder gave notice this afternoon that he would file an exception to the ruling of the judge. This is taken by the court as the first intimation on the part of the state's attorneys that in case the present hearing in Clayton is lost, the famous case will be appealed to the higher courts by the state of Georgia, in the determination to go to the last resort to establish the state's claim to the land in the Tallulah gorge.

Nearly a dozen witnesses were introduced at the Tuesday afternoon session to prove the state's contention that the land granted by Georgia in 1818 and 1819 extended only to the top of the gorge. The first witness was one of the oldest residents of Rabun county, Wiley Pitts, who told in a feeble voice how for decades the people in the vicinity of the falls had pointed out "the Bleckley pine" and other well-known corners along the

TARIFF LOBBYISTS THROWN INTO PANIC BY WILSON'S SHOT

Agents of the Special Interests at Washington Have Begun Issuing Statements to Justify Their Position.

PROBE IS DEMANDED OF WILSON'S CHARGES

Resolutions Introduced in House and Senate Calling for Investigation—Hearings on the Tariff Closed.

Washington, May 27.—The small army of "tariff lobbyists," which has been occupying Washington since the Underwood bill passed the house, was in confusion today because of President Wilson's vigorous attack on the "numerous, industrious and insidious lobby."

Many assumed the president's statement referred to them, although he called none by name, and they began issuing statements to justify their position.

Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee, reiterated that the lobbyists were not getting very far, adding that never in his legislative experience had he seen so determined and so expensive a lobby.

Lobby Charge Stirs Congress.

President Wilson's lobby charge that was brought to the formal notice of the senate today through a resolution by Senator Cummins demanding an immediate investigation by a committee of five senators, to determine the identity of all persons who had made efforts to present arguments or bring influence to bear in favor of changes in the tariff law. A similar resolution was introduced in the house by Representative Tavenner, of Illinois.

Senator Cummins attempted to get immediate action on his resolution, which would authorize the greatest investigation of so-called "lobbying" ever undertaken by congress.

Senator Gallinger at first objected to the resolution as "absurd." Later, he withdrew his objection, but on demand of Senator Owen, the Cummins resolution finally went over for one day without action.

The proposed investigation would require all senators to give names of persons who had approached or written them in the interest of tariff changes; would request President Wilson to furnish names of persons referred to in his statement yesterday that a great and powerful lobby was at work and would authorize the senatorial committee to determine whether the action of any lobbyist who might be discovered was proper or improper.

"It is absurd to demand 'that the names be given of men who have talked with senators about the tariff bill,'" declared Senator Gallinger.

Not Lobbyists, Says Gallinger.

"Men are here who have a right to be here, because they represent the great interests of the country that are imperiled by proposed changes in the tariff. To call them lobbyists is absurd," said Mr. Gallinger.

Senator Cummins declared he had not presented the demand for an investigation because members of the senate had been put in a very "unenviable position."

"I recognize the right of any interest affected by pending legislation to appear and offer argument," he said. "I do not know that any lobbyists are here. None have approached me. But we have a tariff bill before us. A great many men are here, I suppose, for the purpose of putting legitimate arguments before the senate and its committee affecting that legislation. Now, it is said by the highest authority, that a lobby of great proportions, employing means of the most insidious and illegitimate character, is engaged in the effort to secure changes *in the bill as now proposed. The pub-*lic has been led to believe and will believe that if any changes are made they will have been due to their influence.

"I don't know what a lobbyist is. If it is the man who appears to make legitimate arguments, I see no fault in that. But the country has a right to know what influences are surrounding the senate of the United States, to know who is here and who is attempting by argument, by influence or by per*suasion, to change the tariff rates.*"

Thornton Leaves a Bill.

The fight over the lobby resolution ended abruptly at the objection of Senator Owen. The president's public statement of yesterday had brought an earlier comment in the senate from Senator Thornton, one of the democratic senators from Louisiana, who opposes the president's free sugar program. Commenting on steps that Lou-

STEFANSSON SOON TO SAIL FOR FROZEN NORTH

Preparations are complete for the Stefansson arctic expedition which will start from Esquimault, British Columbia, about June 5. Vilhjalmar Stefansson, the leader, announced that he would leave at once for Esquimault, and he was preceded by Captain Robert Bartlett, who was Peary's captain in charge of the North Pole ship Roosevelt. Bartlett will captain the Karluk, Stefansson's ship. With Captain Bartlett went also two other members of the expedition, Henry Beuchat, of Paris, anthropologist, and Fritz Johansen, the Norwegian zoologist of Stefansson's expedition. Two other members of the company are already at Esquimault. So large has Stefansson's expedition grown, he said, that original arrangements have been quite outgrown, and instead of taking one party in one ship he will have to take two parties and two vessels. The second ship, he said, would be selected from three now in northern waters. Stefansson explained that, while he would make every effort to find the vast hypothetic arctic continent which he believes to lie north of western Canada, north of Alaska and northeast of Siberia, his chief object would be to gather comprehensive scientific data about the vast unexplored area thereabout, whether he finds land or not. He expects to be gone until the fall of 1916 at the very least. During his stay in the arctic he or his expedition will be for a long time in touch by wireless telegraph with the most valuable meteorological stations in the northern hemisphere, at Iceland and on the Aleutian islands, to which he hopes to furnish daily messages, thus providing, among other things, a means of predicting storms from the north, a matter of utmost importance to navigation in the northern oceans and in the great lakes. According to the final plans outlined by Stefansson, it is not unlikely that his expedition and that of Captain Roald Amundsen, discoverer of the South Pole, who will set out a year later with a similar object in view, may meet in the midst of the arctic night.

RECEIVERS NAMED FOR FRISCO LINES

Winchell and West Appointed by Federal Judge—Receivers Also Named for Chicago and Eastern Illinois.

St. Louis, May 27.—Thomas H. West, chairman of board of directors of the St. Louis Trust company, and B. L. Winchell, president of the St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad company, were appointed receivers for the railroad in the federal district court here late today.

Appointment of the receivers here took place about an hour after appointment of ancillary receivers for the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, a subsidiary of the Frisco, by the United States district court in Chicago.

Application for the appointment of receivers for the St. Louis and San Francisco was made to Circuit Judge Walter H. Sanborn, who came here from St. Paul today, especially to hear the Frisco matter, by the North American company, which is said to be creditor of the Frisco to the extent of $400,000. A receivership was urged as the only solution of the financial difficulties of the road by James Campbell, of St. Louis, president of the North American company.

Cause of the Receivership.

The immediate cause of the receivership was the maturing on June 1 of short time notes issued by the road for $2,250,000, which bear 5 per cent interest.

ULTIMATUM DELIVERED TO GREECE AND SERVIA

Great Powers Have Resolved to Quench the Firebrands in Balkans.

*London, May 27.—The growing dis*pleasure in diplomatic circles of the great powers at the attitude of Greece and Servia found expression today in what practically amounts to an ultimatum, which Sir Edward Grey, the British secretary for foreign affairs, delivered to the delegates of the belligerents.

The communication made it clear that enough time has been spent in futile discussions of the peace settlement, and that the moment had arrived for signing the draft treaty. Despite assertions to the contrary, the ambassadors were from the first averse to modification of the draft, not because of the character of the proposed changes so much as because of the delay which would attend fresh discussions.

Furthermore, it was pointed out that the proposed modifications were useless in those cases which had been left in the hands of the powers. Consequently, the delegates were informed that a decision had been reached that peace should be signed forthwith without modification.

It was also intimated that those states which were prepared to sign should do so, and that it would serve no purpose for those not prepared to sign to remain longer, thereby intimating that the recalcitrants may continue the war.

The Servians and Greeks have notified their home governments of this situation and are waiting instructions. The Turks and Bulgars are ready to sign and it is not expected that the Montenegrins will offer objections.

Some of the Balkan delegates express the opinion that the communication of the powers savors more of intervention than mediation. But the real reason behind the ultimatum lies in the determination of the diplomats to get the draft signed so as to be in position to take up the big questions remaining for settlement after the preliminaries of peace are adopted.

A Constantinople dispatch says the council of ministers has decided to reject all modifications of the peace draft suggested by the allies.

AIDED GIRL STRIKER AND WAS SHOT DEAD

Terre Haute, Ind., May 27.—Emil Ehrmann, wealthy manufacturer, tonight shot and killed Edward Wade, a teamster, when the latter went to the assistance of a girl striker. Ehrmann is said to have attacked. Ehrmann was arrested on a charge of murder, and F. A. Rockert, manager of an overall company, of which Ehrmann is president, *also is held in con-*nection with the shooting.

Girl strikers at Ehrmann's plant have had pickets on duty there for four months and tonight, it is charged, that Ehrmann, becoming angry at the persistence of Miss Cora Hill, slapped the girl. Wade went to her assistance and was killed.

LIMELIGHT TURNED ON WEST VIRGINIA

Senate Orders Investigation of Coal Strike Situation. Hoke Smith and Bacon Oppose Resolution.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, May 27.—(Special.)—Over the opposition of ten states' rights democrats from the south, including Senators Bacon and Hoke Smith, of Georgia, the senate tonight passed the Kern resolution for an investigation of the West Virginia coal strike situation.

Senator Smith, as chairman of the committee on education and labor, in reporting the favorable action of his committee, said he regarded the resolution as of somewhat doubtful propriety, and that it presented an issue of great seriousness. Attendance of the continual tariff hearings before the finance committee and subcommittees, he said, had made it impossible for him to give the Kern resolution the study he wished.

Senator Bacon had a sharp colloquy today with Senator Borah, of Idaho, who favored the resolution, and with Senator Kern, its author. He said there had been no question submitted to the senate since he was a member of more far-reaching consequences than the present.

Unfortunate Stage, Says Bacon.

"We have reached a very unfortunate stage in our political history," Senator Bacon continued. "If we have come to a point where it is to be a conceded fact that states have no functions to perform that are not under the supervision of the general government, the cable of my ox and your bull is one which has a very great and solemn truth in it. It may seem to be a very simple matter for us to pass a resolution to investigate another state, but it is a very serious proposition when we take it to ourselves whether or not our state is to be investigated.

"I am not speaking as to whether or not conditions should be investigated in a state. I realize the fact that labor has a great battle and I very largely sympathize with it in that battle, and I have testified to it on this floor, not only by speech, but by measures which I have endeavored to have enacted. But for that reason I am not willing that the great fundamental principles which underlie our great dual system of government should be utterly disregarded and trampled under foot.

Investigating a State.

"When you investigate the official acts of a co-ordinate branch of a state, you are investigating that state. When you investigate the decisions of a court of state, especially when those decisions are, as has been represented here, bound up and included with executive acts, you are investigating a state. What constitutes the state in that sense in which I am speaking of it? There are three co-ordinate branches of every state—the legislative, the judicial and the executive. If

OF THE HIGHBALL AND THE COCKTAIL T. R. IS IGNORANT

Colonel Swears in Libel Suit He Has Never Tasted Either of the Seductive Beverages in His Life.

ONE MOUTHFUL OF BEER IN MILWAUKEE'S HONOR

Detests Both Whisky and Beer—Has Drunk a Few Mint Juleps and Takes Light Wines Occasionally.

Marquette, Mich., May 27.—Theodore Roosevelt, a picture of ruddy vigor and perfect health, turned a square jaw in the direction of twelve farmers, teamsters, miners and woodmen in court today and gave his character for sobriety as "not a total abstainer" but never intoxicated in his life. His testimony and that of others corroborated such a description of abstemiousness.

If the sturdy-looking man who spent seven years in performing the duties of president of the United States saw anything curious in his position of explaining to the twelve toilers that he was not really a drunkard, as charged in an alleged libelous editorial by the defendant, George A. Newett, his countenance did not betray it, nor did his manner.

When Mr. Pound, his counsel, after a brief outline of the plaintiff's case to the jury, called Colonel Roosevelt to the stand, the latter, who had been inconspicuous among a number of prosperous witnesses and visitors, stepped briskly forward.

"Now, tell the jury," instructed the lawyer, and the client proceeded to tell them as directed.

"At public dinners I sometimes drink a glass of champagne, perhaps two; on an average, I may say one glass of champagne a month."

The witness snapped his words out in his peculiar, *distinct, choppy enun*ciation and added, after a momentary pause, with emphasis, "and I do that in public."

At this, Judge Richard C. Flanigan, presiding over the court, rebuked an outburst of laughter.

"There was a fine bed of mint at the white house," continued the witness, who was left pretty much to tell his own story. Then his eyes sparkled and he said:

"I may have drunk half a dozen mint juleps in a year."

Colonel Describes Drinking Habits.

In substance Colonel Roosevelt described his drinking habits as follows:

"I am not a total abstainer."

"I have never drunk a highball or a cocktail in my life."

"I do not smoke, I don't drink beer and I don't drink red wines."

"I have never drunk whisky or brandy except when the doctor prescribed it, or possibly on some occa*sion after great exposure* when I was chilled through."

"The only wines I have drunk have been white wines, Madeira, champagne or very occasionally a glass of sherry."

"At home and at dinner I often drink a glass or two of white wine and Poland water."

"At public dinners I sometimes drink a glass of champagne or perhaps two. On an average I may drink one glass of champagne a month."

That White House Mint Bed.

"There was a fine mint bed at the white house, and I may have drunk half a dozen mint juleps there in a year."

"On the African trip the expedition took along a case of champagne, a case of whisky and a bottle of brandy. The brandy was for me, because I don't drink whisky. In the eleven months of the trip the doctor administered just seven ounces of it to me for medical purposes. I never touched it except on his advice. The champagne was used for three of our party who were ill and for some sick strangers."

"On speaking tours, by direction of Surgeon General Rixey, I sometimes took a glass or two of milk before retiring and in each there was a measured teaspoonful of brandy."

"Since leaving the white house I think I have tasted mint juleps twice —part of a glass at St. Louis and a sip from a loving cup at Little Rock, Ark."

Views About the Juleps.

When Colonel Roosevelt remarked that he might have drunk a half dozen mint juleps in a year at the white house, a titter went round the room when Attorney Pound, on direct examination, asked if he drank them all at one time or less than one at a time.

To the best of the plaintiff's recollection he had never taken more than one on the same occasion.

A bottle of wine and liquor was taken on the African expedition, and of this a bottle of brandy was taken along for Colonel Roosevelt. The physician of the outfit measured it out to him from time to time for chills or other reasons.

"I touched nothing else in the eleven

CONLEY REPORTED TO ADMIT WRITING NOTES SATURDAY

Negro Sweeper, It Is Stated, Acknowledges That He Erred in Former Statement to the Detectives.

POLICE NOW SATISFIED WITH NEGRO'S EVIDENCE

Conley Is Taken to Frank's Cell, But Prisoner Refused to See Him Except in the Presence of His Lawyer.

In a gruelling three-hour thrird degree at police headquarters last night, James Conley, the negro pencil factory sweeper, is reported to have made the statement that he erred in the date of his original confession and that he wrote the murder notes at Leo Frank's dictation at 1 o'clock on the Saturday of Mary Phagan's disappearance instead of the preceding Friday.

In an effort to confront the suspected pencil plant superintendent with this acknowledgement, Chief Beavers, Chief Lanford and Harry Scott, of the Pinkertons, took the negro to the Tower at 8 o'clock, where they tried to gain admission to Frank's cell. Sheriff Mangum refused entrance un*less permitted* by Frank.

When word came to him that the police chiefs and the Pinkerton man desired to confront him with Conley, the prisoner positively refused them an audience, declaring that he would have to first consult his counsel, Attorney Luther Rosser.

Secrecy Shrouds Confession.

Secrecy shrouds the negro's reported confession amendment. All three men who subjected him to the third degree admit that he has made a statement of importance, but will neither deny nor affirm the rumor of his change of dates. Chief Lanford was seen by a reporter for The Constitution at police headquarters a few minutes after the negro had been returned to his cell.

He admitted that an important admission had been made by Conley, and, that as a result, he would be used as a material witness against Frank.

He was asked if the negro had revised the date on which he declared he wrote the Phagan murder notes.

"I can't say at present. I will not be able to talk for some time yet. Not until the negro makes another affida*vit, at least,*" he replied.

Judge Arnold, Conley will be required to attest to a new sworn statement of his confession. Chief Lanford would not commit himself on that subject.

Saying that he was not entirely surprised at the result of the examination which Conley was placed last night, the detective chief said that it was one of the most significant developments of the entire investigation, and that it was valued as highly as any evidence now in his possession.

Harry Scott, assistant superintendent of the Atlanta branch of the Pinkertons, who assisted the police officials in the third degree, would not commit himself regarding the rumored amendment to the negro's admission. He said, though, that an acknowledgement of importance had been gained from the negro, and that it was damaging to Frank.

Police Were Worried.

Throughout Tuesday police headquarters was worried over the negro's statement that he had written the notes he says were dictated by Frank on Friday, and had reached the conclusion that he was either lying or had confused his dates. On the latter theory, he was subjected to the gruelling examination at night.

He will be sworn to in an affidavit made in the office of Solicitor

C. F. von HERRMAN,
Section Director.

General Dorsey last Saturday, the detectives have been sorely puzzled over Conley's confession. It did more to muddy the waters of their investigation than any other phase of the case. Supporting, to a large degree, the rumor that the dates had been changed was the statement by Chief Lanford that he now was satisfied with Conley's story.

Earlier Tuesday afternoon, he had stated to a reporter for The Constitution that he was not pleased with Conley's confession because of the day—Friday—on which he claims to have written the notes for Frank. He admitted being mystified.

Last night, however, he said:

"One thing—I'm no longer puzzled."

Chief Beavers said that inasmuch as the detective department was conducting the investigation into the Phagan case, he did not deem it prudent to give out information which they evidently intended keeping secret. This he gave as a reason for not committing himself on the rumor of Conley's new confession.

He told the reporter who talked with him that Conley had not changed his affidavit, laying emphasis on the word "affidavit." He was asked if the negro had changed his statement in any manner.

"I did not say statement," he answered; "I said affidavit."

It is an admitted fact that Conley has not made a fresh affidavit.

Hour Is the Same.

Chief Lanford says that Conley did not change the hour in which he originally declared the notes were written, which was four minutes to 1 o'clock in the afternoon. It will be recalled that he stated in his affidavit that Frank had called him to his office at 12:56 o'clock. He was positive of the hour, he said, because, on his way to the office he had glanced at the time clock in the hallway just outside the office entrance.

If he has altered his original statement, as rumored, it is now to the effect that Frank summoned him to write the murder missives less than forty-five minutes after Mary Phagan had entered the factory building to draw her pay envelope.

Declaring his belief that factional wrangles, such as the one now existing between certain forces engaged in the Phagan mystery, impede the progress of operations, the Burns man explained his reason for withdrawal in this caustic remark:

"This is a hell of a family row for a stranger like me to be mixed in."

He commends the detective department of police headquarters for the progress they have made, and expresses belief that Frank will be convicted on the evidence now at hand, much of which, he says, has never yet been revealed to the public.

He also said that, although the Burns organization was not connected with the mystery in any manner at present, it probably would work on the case later. In such event, he declared, their connection would be secret.

CHIEF LANFORD MAKES OFFER TO COL. FELDER

Detective Chief Lanford Tuesday issued to a reporter for The Constitution a signed statement in which he proposed to rid himself and Atlanta of "two nuisances" by sending A. S. Colyar, handcuffed and in custody of a policeman, to Knoxville, Tenn., and Colonel T. B. Felder in charge of a detective, to Columbia, S. C.

The Statement Follows:

"I will make this proposition to Colonel Felder: That I will handcuff A. S. Colyar and send him back to Knoxville, Tenn., without requisition papers, if he (Colonel Felder) will accompany one of my men to Columbia, S. C., waiving requisition papers. Thereby I would get rid of two nuisances.

"(Signed) N. A. LANFORD."

Difference, Says Felder.

Colonel Felder, when informed of the detective's proposition, treated it lightly, but said:

"There is only one difference between those crooks, Lanford and Colyar—one has been caught and the other hasn't."

Following Chief Beavers' conference with Solicitor General Dorsey over the proposed presentation before the grand jury of charges made against Colonel Felder by the detective department, and Felder's counter charges of corruption, the latter said that he was ready and willing to undergo investigation of any nature.

"No investigation would be too exhaustive," he said. "I would be pleased to go before any committee, organization or tribunal. I have done nothing wrong. There is nothing in my whole professional year of which I am ashamed. I wish an investigation would be started."

Suspicion of the Phagan murder, which is freely reported to have been directed toward the negro James Conley, is scouted by the police and detectives. Chief Lanford intimates that the confession to having written the murder notes is either a plot to muddy the waters of the investigation, or an act of ignorance.

He also says, however, that in case the negro did pen the missives, it was done on the Saturday of the crime, and about the hour at which he declared they were written on the preceding day. It is probable, the chief says, that the black has got confused in his dates, and has mistaken Friday for Saturday.

Confession Is Puzzling.

Conley's confession is, at present, the most mystifying phase of the whole mystery. In an effort to break his story, the detectives are exerting in vain every possible scheme upon the negro.

The report that Mrs. Mattie White, wife of Arthur White, who visited her husband in the pencil plant on the day of Mary Phagan's disappearance, had identified Conley as the negro she noticed loitering in the shadows of the first floor that afternoon, is erroneous. Mrs. White denies having seen the negro at all during that day. Her statement to this effect was made to detectives Tuesday.

Relative to the withdrawal of the Burns agency from the Phagan mystery, Colonel Felder said Tuesday that the usefulness of that organization was over, and that its agents already had performed the duty for which they had been employed. He says further that Tobie unearthed evidence firmly indicating the suspected superintendent's guilt, and that the detective's operations had been invaluable to the solicitor general.

Tobie, in an interview Monday night, took the detective department of headquarters to task for allying with Colyar in their operations. He said that it lowered the dignity of the department.

No new developments arose in the investigation Tuesday. Although he will not state it as a positive fact, Chief Lanford strongly intimates that the alleged telephone conversation between Frank and Mrs. Mima Fawby has been verified by telephone operators who overheard the alleged message.

Conley Worries Detectives.

The mystery of Conley's confession is the most baffling puzzle now confronted with by the detectives, they say. He was arrested on the Tuesday following the murder, when E. F. Holloway, timekeeper and foreman of the pencil plant discovered the negro washing a shirt on the second floor of the factory building. Holloway immediately notified the detectives. Conley was arrested, and since has been kept at police station.

The new theory entertained by the detectives is that Conley wrote the notes on Saturday instead of the Friday, which he claims. He stoutly declares, however, that it was 1 o'clock Friday afternoon, the day before the tragic holiday. Nothing seems able to break his story.

Suspected to a degree, the suspicion directed toward the negro, is the story of Foreman oHlloway, who says that Conley had recently become addicted to drink, and was on the verge of being discharged when his arrest was made. He had been transferred from the job of sweeper boy. Holloway says, because of drink, and was put to work sweeping on the second floor, where he came in contact with the girl operatives.

the Frisco has had a depressing influence on its stock for some time, and last week Chairman Yoakum, of the railway board of directors came to St. Louis to consult with local interests concerning the welfare of the road as to the best course to pursue. At first it was rumored that some means would be found to tide the company over, but this hope was dissipated early today, when Judge Sanborn and attorneys and directors for the road went into secret conference.

At noon it became known that petitions were being prepared for appointment of a receiver and the scurrying about of attorneys representing various interests started rumors that this proceeding would be opposed. These rumors were verified in part when the formal application was presented to Judge Sanborn late today. Attorneys Frederick W. Lehmann and Charles Nagel, representing creditors, said they preferred to have as receivers men not connected with the railroad, thus opposing the appointment of President Winchell and of Mr. West, whose trust company had handled many financial affairs of the road. Mr. Nagel also requested that the receivership be made temporary until he could get definite instructions from his clients.

Objections of Attorneys Lehmann and Nagel did not prevail with the court, who appointed Mr. West and President Winchell receivers.

Directors and Bondholders Acted.

Thomas T. Fauntleroy, of St. Louis, was appointed special commissioner to represent the court in future proceedings.

Application for the appointment of receivers was laid before the court by Henry S. Priest, representing the directors of the railroad and the principal bondholders, and acting in behalf of the North American company. He requested the appointment of Mr. West and of Mr. Winchell. The North American company is understood to hold as collatera on its loan all the first mortgage bonds on the railroad's federal land grant of 1,250,000 acres in Arizona and New Mexico, and $200,000 first mortgage bonds of the New Orleans, Texas and Mexico Railroad company, a subsidiary of the Frisco. The financial difficulties of the road are of long standing and are attributed in part to the southwestern floods of 1911 and 1912, which greatly sustained severe losses; to the increased wages of employees, and to the high price of money.

The ownership of the Chicago and Eastern Illinois, it is said, also has proved a financial drain on the pa ent system.

The St. Louis and San Francisco long was leased to the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe. In 1896 the road became independent, but some time its mileage was about 1,500 miles. Four years later it absorbed the Kansas City, Fort Scott and Memphis, extending from Kansas City to Birmingham, and in 1904 acquired the Chicago and Eastern Illinois. In 1903 the Frisco was merged with the Rock Island system. This merger continued until 1909, but in that year the Frisco passed into the hands of its present owners. Its trackage now totals more than 7,500 miles.

GERMANY TAKES SHOT AT STANDARD OIL CO.

Berlin, May 27.—The Imperial supreme court today declared void and against public policy the contract appropriating German territory between the Standard Oil company's Germany subsidiary company, and its chief competitor the German Petroleum Sales company. Under the contract the latter received only one-fifth of the business in Germany.

MAN SHOT FROM HORSE BY A MADDENED GIRL

Springer, Okla., May 27.—Miss Lela Hesterley, 20 years old, shot Walter Hickman with a shotgun as he was riding by her home near here on horseback last night. As Hickman fell to the ground he tried to pull his pistol from his scabbard. Then the girl rushed toward him and shot him again, killing him. She was arrested and placed in jail.

Hickman was arrested recently, charged with firing into the Hesterly home. He was going to Ardmore to sign a bond to keep the peace when he was killed.

LIMELIGHT TURNED ON WEST VIRGINIA

you investigate the official acts of them all, you certainly would be investigating the state. If you investigate the official acts of one of them, you are investigating the state.

"It may be, and may very well be, that a state may be investigated if it relates to a mater in which it has impinged upon or violated something in which the federal government is the superior, in which it has ultimate power and control. If it is a violation of a law of congress enacted in the exercise of its constitutional functions, such, for instance, as the peonage law, that may be a subject matter of investigation. But when you investigate whether a state court has decided right or wrong in the enforcement of a state statute it is another matter altogether.

There Are Other Remedies.

"If there were no other remedy for this alleged wrong there might be some justification for interference on the part of the federal government, through its legislative branch."

Senator Bacon, however, condemned the action of the military tribunals in trying offenders while the civil courts were in operation. When order has been restored under martial law, it is the duty of the military to protect the civil courts, he insisted.

Senator Kern attempted to put Senator Bacon in the position of sympathizing with the oppressive measures alleged to have been taken by the coal operators. Mr. Bacon denied this and said he had absolutely no sympathy with what had occurred in West Virginia.

"The governor of West Virginia struck at the foundation of human liberty," declared Senator Reed, discussing the establishment of martial law, and trial of citizens by military tribunal.

"Instead of standing upon a pedestal as I have heard it said on this floor, he stands in the pillory, and in my opinion he will stand there as long as men revere liberty in West Virginia.

Senator Reed severely criticised the court of appeals of West Virginia which upheld the governor and the military tribunal.

"I say," he continued, "there never fell from George III. or any of his ministers; there never was written in the infamous reign of Charles II. a doctrine more destructive of human liberty and of all law and order than the doctrine we're now confronted with."

For Protection of the Weak.

Senator Root, admitting that he did not know what might result from the inquiry, declared that it should be made so that legislation might be perfected, if necessary, to insure protection of the weak citizen in rights guaranteed him by the constitution and the fourteenth amendment. He said that it might prove advisable in the future to have authority to transfer cases of this sort to the federal courts; that writs of prohibition might be needed or the department of justice or the executive authorized to take the initiative.

The only record vote taken was on an amendment by Senator Bacon to strike out that part of the resolution authorizing an inquiry into alleged violations of the constitution and laws of the United States in trial and conviction of citizens. The amendment was defeated, 59 to 10. Senators votingfor it were:

Bacon, Bankhead, Bryan, Catron, Goff, Overman, Smith of Georgia, Stone, Thornton and Tillman.

The ayes and nayes had been ordered yesterday on the resolution. Senator Bacon announced today, however, he would ask for a separate vote on each of the separate paragraphs, unless the vote was taken viva voce. Senator Bacon and several others expressed a desire to support the resolution, except for the one paragraph.

Senator Ashurst, author of the action for a record vote, after announcing his belief in the entire resolution, consented to withdraw his motion and the resolution was adopted.

Resolutions Is Sweeping.

Under the resolution's authority, the senate, through the education and labor committee, will look into charges of peonage in West Virginia; of violation of the immigration laws; of interference with the mails and postoffices and of violation of the constitution and laws of the United States in the trial of citizens by a military tribunal. It will examine reported combinations among operators in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act, and alleged discrimination by immigration authorities and determined whether arms and explosives were imported into Paint creek for improper use.

Terms of the authorization are so broad that the committee will be able to inquire into anything and everything which figured in the troubles between the miners and the operators.

The investigation will be the second in the history of the nation, so far as senators have shown in debate, to be made of the acts of a state by a legislative branch of the federal government. The strike in the Couer d'Alene mining region in Idaho was investigated by a house commitee in 1900.

The education and labor committee will meet probably tomorrow to begin its work. Its first action will be the naming of a subcommittee to make a trip to the strike region to examine witnesses. Senator Borah will be chairman, and Senators Shields, Swanson, Martine and Kenyon will be other members. The subcommittee's report is expected next month.

NEGRO DESPERADO WHO KILLED THREE IS CAUGHT AT LAST

Newington, Ga., May 27.—Richard Henry Austin, slayer of Dr. S. C. Moore, Magistrate Edenfield, Victor Bowers, was captured at dusk tonight near the residence of Marvin Giles, seven miles above Newington. The negro did not surrendered without resistence, and was shot down by a member of the posse making the arrest, which was headed by Sheriff Morris, of Barnwell county, S. C. Tonight he lies desperately wounded and his death is expected. Should his prisoner be able to travel, Sheriff Morris will start for South Carolina with his man in the morning.

For days Austin has been skulking in the Savannah river swamps, fed and aided by members of his own race.

This morning Austin was seen to skulk up river and the vigilant posse soon was in pursuit. He evaded his pursuers all day, but at dusk Sheriff Morris and a member of the posse came suddenly upon their man. A gun spoke and Austin dropped. The long chase was ended.

It has been intimated that Sheriff Morris will take his man to Luray, S. C., but it is not believed that Austins' life would be worth three cents there, where the friends and relatives of his victims live. The general belief here is that the sheriff will make straight for Columbia.

Boy Wants to Work Daytime And Go to School at Night

"Cap'n, I want to get me a job here in the daytime, and go to school at night. I ain't never had a chance to get er education, but I'm going to now. This is what 13-year-old Willie Everett told a Constitution reporter at the police station last night.

Ragged and dirty, three youngsters wandered down to the police station and asked for a bed at 10 o'clock. They explained that they had come for work —one, Simmie Vermillion said he had a father who was a bricklayer in the city; the other two, Claud Sealy and Everett, were just looking for a job.

Back in the cell where such are placed, little Willie Everett told the story of his life, a childhood which had been cheated out of most of the pleasures and all of the opportunities which are supposed to come to the youth of America.

Sitting on his bunk, tying up his stockings with an old piece of string, he told how he wanted to get an education.

"My mama died when I was 2 years old. I don't remember her," he said, trying to restrain the tears. "My papa died five years ago. I ain't got no brothers or sisters, nor no folks. I had ter go to work before I had been in school more'n a year or so, and I've been working ever since. Over in Alabama, where I came from, I drove mules in a logging camp. They paid me 90 cents and my board.

"And I saved a little of that money, too, hoping to get a chance to go to school. But I'm so far behind that I don't know whether I will ever get there.

"Comin' over here we rode on a little engine that was placed on a flat car. Don't guess that it was exactly right, but I just had to get here, for they told me that a fellow could work in the daytime in Atlanta, and go to school at night.

"Say, Cap'n, can't you tell me where I can get some job where I can work all day, and then go to a night school?

"I want to be an educated man like the parson that used to come down once a month and preach to us. He used mighty good language, and was different from us kind. He never cussed nor swore, nor got drunk. He was a gentleman, that's what the boss said. The fellows used to make fun of him sometimes, but he always took it in a mighty nice manner. He told me that I ought to go to school and get educated, and learn things. Say, Cap'n, can't you tell me where I can get a job? I'm willin' to do mos' anything, 'cause I've just got to get that education."

ODD FELLOWS CONVENE IN SAVANNAH TODAY

Meeting Will Open in Theater This Morning—Daughters of Rebekah Also Gather.

Savannah, Ga., May 27.—(Special.)—Delegates to the grand lodge of the I. O. O. F. of Georgia, which convenes here tomorrow morning, have been pouring into the city all day. W. S. Coleman, the grand master, reached the city this morning, as did Secretary Robertson and other visitors, including Deputy Grand Sire Daniel, of Griffin. They were met at the station by a special committee and shown many points of interest about the city. They were taken in charge by the local delegates and tendered an automobile ride with a luncheon at Thunderbolt.

The largest delegation will be that which comes from Thomasville and the stations in that vicinity, which will get here for assignment to rooms or boarding houses. The souvenir of this convention is to be a pennant emblematic of the order, instead of the proverbial badge which is the rule at so many conventions of this character.

The visitors are to be entertained with Savannah proverbial hospitality. There is to be a boat ride on Thursday which will accommodate about 1,500. The Daughters of Rebekah are also meeting at Savannah this week. Their advance delegations are on hand today and all is ready for the convening of the grand lodge tomorrow.

At the public exercises tomorrow morning at the historic Savannah theater there will be an address of welcome by Mayor Davant and another by T. M. Haynes, the deputy grand master. The response will be by W. S. Coleman, of Atlanta, the grand master. Haynes is to be elected grand master at this convention. The weather man has promised blue skies and ideal May weather for the visitors.

Columbus Team Leaves.

Columbus, Ga., May 27.—(Special.)—The degree team of Rose Hill lodge of Odd Fellows left this morning for Savannah and will compete for the grand prize in the drill before the grand council of that order. R. Howard Hendrix is captain of the team and L. Y. Conley is assistant captain.

POMERENE STIRS IRE OF HIS COLLEAGUES

Washington, May 27.—Senator Pomerene, of Ohio, aroused criticism from his colleagues by having read in the senate tonight a letter from Governor Cox, of Ohio, attacking Senators Goff, of West Virginia, and Gallinger, of New Hamshire, on account of statements made in debate relating to the governor's refusal to send troops to Cincinnati during the recent street car strike.

Senator Stone, speaking from the democratic side, and Lodge for the republicans, declared the reading of the letter was in violation of the senate rules, the latter expressing the hope it would be expunged from the record. The letter was permitted to stand, however, after Senators Gallinger and Goff had made vigorous replies to Governor Cox and Senator Pomerene had expressed the conviction that he had not violated the rules.

Duncan to Oppose Johnson.

Union, S. C., May 27.—Thomas Cary Duncan, mayor of Union, will probably oppose Joseph T. Johnson, of Spartanburg, for his seat in the national house of representatives next summer, according to announcement today, Colonel Duncan for years has been prominently identified with large industrial interests in this section and is now serving his second term as mayor. He is 50 years old, is son of the late Bishop W. W. Duncan and was born and reared in Union county.

You may not care how long it takes to get a suit of clothes if it's right when you get it; the trouble is, the suit you wait two weeks for isn't any more likely to be right than the one you buy ready and wear home; or get the next day. Then there do come times, occasionally, when you need a suit or overcoat quickly; time-saving is important then.

This advantage in time required is only one of the reasons for buying ready clothes instead of made-to-measure; another advantage is that for $25 you'll get as good value as the average made-to-measure at $40 or more. The reasons for buying ours, of all the ready clothes you could buy, are that in style; in tailoring; in all-wool fabrics, you know you're going to get the right thing before you start.

We make suits as low as $18 and up to $50. Our mark in a garment is a sure sign of satisfaction; guaranteed. It's a small thing to look for, but a big thing to find.

HISSES PROVOKED STORM OF CHEERS FOR GOV. HOOPER

Effort to Put an Indignity on Tennessee Executive at the Confederate Reunion Is Promptly Thwarted.

GREAT CROWD ATTENDS OPENING OF REUNION

Spectacular Parades and Eloquent Addresses—Notable Southern Women Introduced to Veterans.

Chattanooga, Tenn., May 27.—Eloquent addresses, spectacular parades and scores of social entertainments in honor of veterans, sponsors and maids of honor, characterized the opening day of the twenty-third annual United Confederate Veterans' reunion in this city. The only discordant note was sounded at the first business session of the veterans when hisses finally drowned out by cheers slightly delayed Governor Ben W. Hooper, of Tennessee, in delivering his address of welcome.

Governor Hooper Given Ovation.

Governor Hooper is said to have been the first republican chief state executive to welcome delegates to a United Confederate Veterans' reunion.

Rumors were current at Camp Stewart and in the city last night that there was a possibility of a hostile demonstration. These rumors apparently had no discernible source, but were so persistent that Mayor T. C. Thompson, of Chattanooga, and other city officials had taken steps to quell any disturbance. Governor Hooper also is said to have been informed as to the report being circulated.

The demonstration, however, was so short-lived that it was not necessary for the city officials to take action.

Governor Hooper was given an ovation at the conclusion of his remarks.

Throughout the day the influx of visitors continued. Every train added hundreds to the thousands already in the city. Although the weather was threatening, no rain fell, and the temperature remained in the sixties. Fair and warmer weather is predicted for tomorrow.

Sponsors in Autos.

Despite the coolness, hundreds of sponsors, representing almost every divisions in the Confederate army, participated in the parade this afternoon. In flimy gowns and laces they were driven in automobiles along the principal streets in the city. Thousands lined the sidewalks to witness the pageant, while the capacity of special reviewing stands on Broad street was taxed to the utmost.

General Bennett H. Young, commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, and Governor Hooper, with their staffs, reviewed the parade from an official stand erected at General Young's headquarters.

The aged veterans who thronged the streets appeared to enjoy the display immensely. As each automobile passed, filled with beautiful women and girls, the veterans leaned far over the restraining ropes along the streets, waved their hats and threw kisses to the southern beauties. These in turn acknowledged the greetings and tossed flowers to the soldiers.

The review today of the eleventh United States cavalry furnished a novel spectacle to many visitors who had never witnessed a similar demonstration. More than a thousand cavalrymen and officers entered through the city and passed in review before General Bennett H. Young and scores of sponsors, maids and matrons of honor. All the officers saluted the gray-haired veteran commander-in-chief as they passed, and the regimental band played "Dixie."

Old Heads Sons of Veterans.

Business sessions were held in the morning and afternoon by both the United Confederate Veterans and the Sons of Veterans. The latter elected William W. Old, Jr., of Norfolk, Va., to succeed J. P. Norfleet, of Memphis, as commander-in-chief. The new commander is the son of William W. Old, of Virginia, who served on the staff of General Early in the valley campaign, and with General Ed Johnson. Invitations were tendered to the Sons to hold their 1914 reunion by members of the organization from Denver, Col., and Birmingham, Ala. The Sons' reunion will be held in the city chosen by the United Confederate Veterans.

Business sessions of the United Confederate Veterans today were attended by crowds which filled the city auditorium. The building has a seating capacity of more than 6,000, and many persons were standing. Scores of battle-scarred Confederate flags were displayed at both sessions. One, torn almost to shreds as a result of action in the Virginia campaign, was waved from the platform by Major John Babcock, of the fourth Alabama division.

Eloquent addresses marked both sessions. The speakers included General Bennett H. Young, Governor Ben W. Hooper, Mayor T. C. Thompson, of Chattanooga; Governor McCreary, of Kentucky; General John P. Hickman, grand marshal of the veterans' organization; Mrs. Alexander B. White, president of the United Daughters of the Confederacy; Mrs. Virginia F. Boyle, poet laureate of the veterans, and others.

Confederate Women Present.

Among the prominent Confederate women introduced before the organization today were Mrs. C. B. Bryan, of Memphis, daughter of Admiral Raphael Semmes, who commanded the "Alabama" during the war between the states.

General Young also presented Mrs. Virginia Clay Clopton, who is the widow of two Confederate officers. Her first husband, Colonel Clement C. Clay, was imprisoned with Jefferson Davis when the latter was detained at Fortress Monroe at the end of the war between the states.

General K. M. Van Zandt, of Fort Worth, Texas, commander of the Trans-Mississippi department, was presiding officer at the afternoon business session of the veterans. At this meeting a motion was made and adopted to take action tomorrow on the proposition of the Confederate veterans participating in the joint semi-centennial celebration of the battle of Gettysburg.

Among the speakers at this gathering were General C. Irwin Walker, of Charleston, S. C., honorary commander-in-chief of the United Confederate Veterans, and D. S. Henderson, of Aiken, S. C.

General Walker recalled a number of the active engagements in which he participated near this city fifty years ago. Colonel Henderson advocated the "back to the land movement," the "education of the masses," and urged the veterans to "stand for the basic principles of the federal constitution and to resist such changes in the form of our government as a great many people are clamoring for under the leadership of temporary politicians."

Tonight a reception in honor of Confederate veterans was tendered at Bennett H. Young pavilion by the United Daughters of the Confederacy, Chapters A. P. Stewart and Francis M. Walker.

ROW OVER 25 CENTS CAUSES DIVORCE SUIT

Declaring that her husband threatened to shoot her over 25 cents which she had secured from the sale of butter and eggs, Mrs. Florence D. Betsell entered suit for divorce, allimony and the custody of her two children, yesterday in the superior court.

Mrs. Betsell says she married E. L. Betsell on December 19, 1907, and was forced, on account of his cruel treatment, to leave him on December 13, 1912. The couple have two children, Robert, aged 4, and Elsie, aged 2.

In her plea for support for herself and children, the woman asserts that her only possession is the cow that furnished the butter over which the family row started. She says that the sale of milk and butter from the cow is her only support.

CAPT. "TIP" HARRISON IN ROLE OF INVENTOR

Has a Dictagraph for Reporters' Use, Also Time Chair for Governor's Callers.

Friends of "Tip" Harrison, who keeps tab on the taxes for Comptroller William A. Wright—and he numbers them by the hundred in every county of the state—have long recognized in the genial Captain "Tip" an authority of weight in matters pertaining to the civil war, but few if any of them are aware of the fact that he also possesses a rare order of talent for mechanical invention.

Dictagraph for Reporters' Use.

Yet, so it is. While sitting in his office chair at the capitol, the captain has evolved a number of labor and trouble saving devices which, in the hands of the ordinary greedy inventor, might through the agency of the patent office return a shower of golden shekels to their author, but which he generously offers the public gratis. One of the latest inventions that has been incubating in the brain of Captain "Tip" since the alleged dictagraph revelations involving Colonel Felder and Mayor Woodward, is calculated to bring joy to a much abused class of public servants. It is nothing less than an adaptation of the dictagraph and dictaphone combined for the use of reporters. The invention can be made practical enough, Captain Harrison believes, and while, of course, it will be out of the reach of newspaper men to purchase for themselves, when once put on the market, the papers will be compelled to furnish the members of their staffs with the device at any price in self defense.

Every reporter has had experience with men who lose their nerve when confronted with statements they have made in cold print, and who are quick to set their own words and repudiate what they have said with slight regard for the interviewer's reputation for veracity. But when the reporter is equipped with Captain "Tip's" automatic dictaphonagraph the denial of published interviews will be impossible. The delicate little instrument which the interviewer will have concealed on his person will have taken an exact record of everything said, a record that no politician, however accustomed he may be to repudiating unwelcome truth, can squirm out of or in anyway escape.

Double-Seated Pivot Chair.

Another invention of Captain Harrison's will not only save governors and other public men a world of labor and ennui, but will also prove of vast benefit to the state which has engaged their time. It is nothing less than a sort of Janus-faced chair working on a pivot. It will be fixed in the wall between the public official's reception room and his private sanctum, so that there will always be one side of the chair in the reception room and the other facing his honor, excellency, or whatever the case may be.

Now when anyone has business with the public man, he will first approach the secretary, who will ascertain of him just how much time he needs to transact his business. Of course, in his anxiety to see the governor, we will say (the inventor will be available for any public official or captain of industry who may desire to make use of it, but it is more particularly intended for the relief of governors), the caller will estimate the time he needs at a very low figure.

Will Work Automatically.

The chair will then be adjusted by the private secretary to the exact number of minutes needed to present the business; the visitor will be seated and swung around into the presence of his excellency. On the dot, when the time set has expired, the chair will automatically swing around again and another visitor who has been seated by the accommodating secretary to await his turn will be given his brief opportunity to present his wants. The governor will not only be saved an untold amount of time, which he will then be able to devote to the public business, but he will also be saved much annoyance and the devising of a hundred subterfuges to get rid of tiresome visitors, who for reasons could not be forced out or offended.

"With my invention, which is perfectly simple and feasible," said Captain Harrison yesterday, "nobody can possibly be offended, for everyone will get all the time he was bargained for. When a man finds himself put out he will have only himself to blame, if he is not through with his say."

Numerous Applications.

The captain believes this invention is capable of development and application in ways that have not yet been thought of. The supreme court might use it on lawyers presenting arguments before them. Merchants might find it invaluable in dealing with drummers, who come to sell them goods. Bankers would find it indispensable in handling promoters and other dreamers of schemes requiring money to invest with reality. Its use has even been suggested in churches where preachers become so wrapped up in their themes that they forget their hearers have not died.

One lady in particular to whom the captain described the device, how be it, he would not reveal her name for the world, said she believed it would work a charm on her pastor and would make him vastly more popular. "It will fill a great popular need and is bound to be widely adopted," said Captain Harrison in conclusion.

Dance for Turners.

Invitations issued by Newman Lasser, chairman of the entertainment committee of the Atlanta Turn Verein, and Charles C. Gillett, secretary, are now being mailed to the members of the verein and their families to a dance at the Turners' hall, 26½ South Pryor street, on Wednesday evening, June 4, beginning at 8:30 o'clock.

Tarlington in Bankruptcy.

Thomas Tarlington, of Atlanta, a hotel clerk, has filed with Deputy Clerk Beers, of the federal court, a voluntary petition in bankruptcy. The petitioner gives his liabilities down at $138 without any assets.

Singers Go to Charleston.

The German singers of Atlanta, forty strong, under the leadership of Professor Hunter Welch, instructor, and George Mau, leader, left yesterday for Charleston, S. C., where the singerfest for the southeastern section is being held this year. The Atlanta singers left in a special sleeper on the Georgia railway, and will be away from home until the session of the singerfest closes the last of the week.

TO USE GOOD ROADS AS STRONG ARGUMENT

For the Establishment of New Counties Where Roads Have Been Neglected.

Good roads construction is going to prove a powerful argument this summer before a legislative committee in the appeal for the creation of certain new counties.

There are two or three sections in the state in the midst of which are set prosperous and growing towns, located remotely from county seats. As a result of this fact these towns have suffered, they claim, for lack of road improvement. In one or two instances, it is said, all the road taxes their people have paid have been put on roads nearer the county seat, and they have received no benefit from it.

A striking instance of this situation is afforded at Metter, Ga., in the extreme western section of Bulloch county, and close to the line of Emanuel and Tattnall. Bulloch's policy in road improvement has been to begin at the county seat and work out, radiating in various directions. Naturally Emanuel and Tatinall have not improved the roads toward Metter because although close to the line, it is in another county.

The result is Metter hasn't a really first-class road within 10 miles of its limits. It is pointed out that if Candler county is created, it will immediately proceed to work the roads radiating from Metter and connecting with good roads into the county seats of all three of the counties from which it proposes to take a portion of territory.

Possibly Bulloch and the other counties have done their best in road construction, but that has not relieved the situation so far as it concerns the people of Metter.

There are one or two other similar situations in Georgia, and the people of the communities involved realize that if they are to get good roads, the only promising method seems to be to create a new county and go to work on the roads themselves.

The couple were married on March 30, according to the petition, and on May 15 Mrs. Ellison says her husband left her, giving as his reason that he was tired of living with her.

The woman declares that in their short married life that her spouse contributed only $2 to her support.

SPRATLIN & HARRINGTON MADE GENERAL AGENTS

Spratlin & Harrington, of Atlanta, have been appointed general agents in Georgia for the New England Casualty company for the writing of employers and automobile liability, burglary, accident and health and plate glass lines. This company, which has assets of $1,830,610 and a surplus to policyholders of $1,306,613, only recently decided to enter Georgia, when an exceptional opportunity was presented. The company is ably managed and enjoys a splendid reputation.

The firm of Spratlin & Harrington was organized about one year ago, and has been signally successful in building up a good line of accident and liability business for the Equitable Casualty company, of Atlanta, and the Interstate Casualty company, of Birmingham.

The Equitable Casualty company recently decided to discontinue its commerical department and confine its operations to its monthly payment business. This necessitated the general agency taking on some other company to take care of its policyholders. The New England Casualty company will succeed the Equitable only in commercial lines, and as fast as the policies expire they will be rewritten in the Poston company.

MARIE VAN VORST'S New Novel

HIS LOVE STORY

Vividly the author creates her settings as the story moves from the French village to the sea and from the sea to the desert. Cleverly she introduces her characters—typical people, each accomplishing the purpose conceived for him.

Mingling the tender feeling of a French idyl with the stern resolve of a frontier drama, Marie Van Vorst has made this a consuming tale of romance and adventure, an unusual love story with the keenest interest and happiest solution.

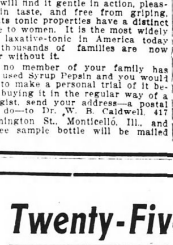
Woman's Beauty is Based on Health

To Have Health Bowel Movement is Absolutely Necessary--How Best to Obtain it

If woman's beauty depended upon cosmetics every woman would be a picture of loveliness. But beauty lies deeper than that. It lies in health. In the majority of cases the basis of health, and the cause of sickness, can be traced to the action of the bowels.

The headache, the lassitude, the sallow skin and the lusterless eyes are usually due to constipation. So many things that women do habitually conduce to this trouble. They do not eat carefully, they eat indigestible foods because the foods are served daintily and they do not exercise enough. But whatever the particular cause may be it is important that the condition should be corrected.

An ideal remedy for women and one especially suited to their delicate requirements, is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which thousands of women endorse highly. Mrs. Jennie Snedeker, 1041 West Monroe St., Chicago, testifies that she is "cured of grave stomach and bowel troubles by using Syrup Pepsin and without the aid of a doctor or any other medicine." All the family can use Syrup Pepsin, for thousands of mothers give it to babies and children. It is also admirably suited to the requirements of elderly people, in fact to all who by reason of age or infirmity cannot stand harsh salts, cathartics, pills or purgatives. These should always be avoided, for at best their effect is only for that day, while a genuine remedy like Syrup Pepsin acts mildly but permanently.



MRS. JENNIE SNEDEKER.

It can be conveniently obtained at any drug store at fifty cents or one dollar a bottle. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded. You will find it gentle in action, pleasant in taste, and free from griping, and its tonic properties have a distinct value to women. It is the most widely used laxative-tonic in America today and thousands of families are now never without it.

If no member of your family has ever used Syrup Pepsin and you would like to make a personal trial of it before buying it in the regular way of a druggist, send your address—a postal will do—to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 417 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., and a free sample bottle will be mailed you.

BUILDING MANAGERS AND OWNERS ORGANIZE

Atlanta Association Will Invite National Body to Hold Its Next Meeting Here.

The first organization of building owners and managers in Atlanta was perfected Tuesday afternoon when the owners and managers of the office buildings and apartment houses in this city met in chamber of commerce hall and organized the association of Building Owners and Managers of Atlanta. The organization expects to attain a local membership of thirty-five or forty members at once.

The movement for the organization of the building men was started by the Atlanta convention bureau. At the meeting Tuesday afternoon Ivan E. Allen, president of the bureau, was elected temporary chairman, and Fred Houser, secretary of the convention bureau, was made temporary secretary.

The following officers of the association were elected:

Charles F. Wilkinson, manager of the Candler building, president; A. W. Martin, manager of the Atlanta National Bank building, vice president; Fred Shafer, manager of the Empire Life building, secretary and treasurer.

The committee appointed on constitution and by-laws consists of J. B. Pendleton, manager of the Equitable building, chairman, and J. M. Barclay, manager of the Atlanta Trust company building.

The following committee on membership was appointed:

J. M. Shearer, custodian of the city hall, chairman; W. B. Stovall, manager of the Empire building; J. L. Fincher, manager of the Peters building.

Nearly all the buildings in the city were represented, and letters were on hand from those not represented expressing their sympathy with the movement.

The first official act of the association of Building Owners and Managers of Atlanta will be to send a delegation to Cincinnati to the sixth annual convention of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers, which meets in the Hotel Sinton, in that city, June 10-12.

Fred Houser stated Tuesday that the convention bureau already has assurances from the officials of the national organization that the Atlanta delegation stands an excellent chance for pulling the 1914 convention to Atlanta. This sentiment among the national officials is augmented by the fact that the national organization has never held a convention in the south, and that Atlanta is not only the biggest office building city in the southern states, but has more fine office buildings in proportion to its size than any other city in the United States.

ALIBI BEING FRAMED BY WOOL TRUST CHIEF

Wood Trying to Prove He Held No Conference to Arrange Dynamite "Planting."

Boston, May 27.—The defense in the dynamite conspiracy trial succeeded today in introducing evidence that on the night of January 19, 1912, during the hours when the government alleges President William M. Wood, of the American Woolen company, and Frederick E. Atteaux, were furthering a conspiracy to "plant" dynamite at Lawrence, both defendants were attending a conference of mill agents, during which an appeal to the strikers to return to work was agreed upon.

Since the beginning of the trial the prosecution has sought to prove that Wood, Atteaux and Dennis J. Collins conspired with John J. Breen and E. W. Pitman to prejudice public opinion against the strike of the textile operatives at Lawrence by hiding dynamite on premises occupied by the strikers. The evidence regarding the conference was brought out during the cross-examination of Walter M. LaMont, agent of the Wood mill, one of the American Woolen company's plants at Lawrence. On his direct examination the witness said he saw Atteaux at Wood's home at Andover on the night of January 19.

Replying to questions by Henry F. Hurlburt, counsel for Wood, Lamont said that Wood and Atteaux were attending a conference participated in by agents and other officials of the American Woolen company.

Strike conditions were discussed, Lamont testified, and two letters were read, revised and approved. One of the letters was over the signature of President Wood, and advised striking employees to return to their machines. The other was from Wood to Father Milanese, pastor of an Italian Catholic church, in Lawrence, and gave the company's side of the controversy.

The letter to the operatives was prepared for publication in the Lawrence newspapers on the following morning, the witness said, and the defense then introduced a clipping from a Lawrence morning paper of January 20, 1912, in which the text of the communication appeared.

A copy of the letter to Father Milanese also was introduced.

District Attorney Pelletier endeavored to show by the testimony of officials and employees of the American Woolen company that Wood and Atteaux had talked over the telephone a day or two before the discovery of the dynamite on January 19. None of these witnesses, however, could recall any such conversation.

James R. Bailey, Jr., manager of the American machinery exchange, of Lowell, a concern owned by the American Woolen company told of a conversation with Dr. Wood about the dynamite "plant." Wood said he was sorry to hear that rumors had been circulated in Lawrence that Bailey was connected with the "plant." The witness said he told Wood the reports were false.

DAVIES TAKES THE OATH AS CORPORATION HEAD

Washington, May 27.—Joseph E. Davies, whose nomination to be commissioner of corporations was withdrawn from the senate by President Wilson when he learned that action by the senate was not necessary, today took the oath of office. Whether Mr. Davies will resign as secretary of the national democratic committee, his continuation in which office was the cause of objection to his nomination, was not indicated today. He declined to comment on the matter.

Preparatory to any constructive work any legislation and to the announcement by the administration of a definite program in regard to big business, the bureau of corporations, it was learned today, will make a careful survey of the data already amassed and will collect more with a view of determining scientifically whether monopolistic or competitive business is the most efficient and whether trusts do not reach, at a certain point, a limit of efficiency. This, it was said, is the big problem which the bureau of corporations under its new chief will try to solve for the administration.

F. G. BRANCH HEADS SOUTH GEORGIA COLLEGE

McRae, Ga., May 27.—(Special.)—The board of trustees of the South Georgia college met this morning at the auditorium at 10 o'clock. All the old members of the board were re-elected except W. B. Folsom, secretary and foreman, who was not an applicant. E. F. McRae was elected in his place. Dr. W. C. Lovitt, of Atlanta, was re-elected president, and T. N. Bakes, of Macon, was re-elected vice president of the board. The vacancy in the position of president of the college, caused by the resignation of Professor R. J. Strozier, was filled by the election of Professor F. G. Branch, of Eatonton. Rev. S. E. Jinkins, of Baxley, was elected vice president. Miss Frankie Williams, of Eatonton, and Miss Swinney, of this city, were elected to fill the vacancies in the faculty.

MODERN DANCES HIT BY N. Y. GRAND JURY

New York, May 27.—The grand jury today handed down a presentment against modern dances:

"Within the last few months the amount of suggestive, sensual dancing, in hotels and restaurants, where the sale of liquor is allowed, has greatly increased in the city of New York," reads the presentment. "And we believe with deplorable results to the morals of the young, many of whom are able, without the knowledge of their parents, to frequent such places owing to the fact that dancing thereon takes place during the afternoon as well as the evening.

"It appears to us that the statutes should be so amended that liquor tax certificates shall be summarily forfeited in the case of all premises in which dances of an immoral nature are allowed."

GRIFFIN CITY COUNCIL ACCEPTS FIRE ENGINE

Citizens Wondering Whether Mayor Smith Is Going to Continue His Fight or Not.

Griffin, Ga., May 27.—(Special.)—Although council tonight formally accepted the American-LaFrance auto fire engine, which has long been the bone of contention between councilmen and the mayor, there are two features of the case that are exciting the interest of the citizens.

In taking over the apparatus a "warrant for payment" was issued. It is not specified whether it is council's plan to pay for the engine in a lump sum of $5,500 or on the installment plan. Furthermore, Mayor J. H. Smith has not given any notification of his future plans, and speculation is rife as to whether or not he will attempt to enjoin payment for the engine.

The mayor claims that if a lump sum is paid for the engine and the city continues its present rate of expenditures, there will be at the end of the year a deficit of $4,500 in the treasury. Council, on the other hand, claims that there is $22,000 on hand at present, and in addition some $3,000 in back taxes.

Gas Franchise Issued.

Griffin, Ga., May 27.—(Special.)—The council of Griffin has granted a fifty-year gas franchise to Frank L. Butler and associates of North Carolina, on condition that the plant be in actual operation within two years. It is expected that work on the plant will be started soon.

WILSON IS STUDYING EXEMPTION CLAUSE

Washington, May 27.—Whether President Wilson will sign or veto the sundry civil bill, with its clause exempting labor unions and farmers' organizations from prosecution under certain funds set aside for operation of the anti-trust laws, still is an open question.

The president today sent for Senator Martin, of Virginia, and Representative Fitzgerald, of New York, chairman of the two congressional committees on appropriations, and talked at length with them about the bill. At the conclusion of the conference white house officials were silent. Senator Martin said he had no intimation that the bill would be vetoed. Representative Fitzgerald was not inclined to discuss the subject at all.

It is considered likely that the president will make known in a few days just what his position will be toward the much talked-of exemption clause. Pressure has been strong from both sides urging him to veto the bill on the ground that it sets up a precedent for class legislation.

HOUSE COMMITTEES FINALLY COMPLETED

Washington, May 27.—Committee organization of the house was completed today by the ways and means committee majority, and Chairman Underwood will present the names of members of all the committees, democrats, republicans and progressives to a democratic caucus next Monday afternoon.

Two new committees are provided for in the slate, one on roads and one on expenditures in the department of labor.

Mr. Underwood today obtained unanimous consent of the house to increase the membership of the committee on Indian affairs from twenty to twenty-one members, irrigation committee from thirteen to fifteen, and the public buildings committee from seventeen to nineteen members, and a membership of seven on the new committee on expenditures in the department of labor.

GEORGIA POSTMASTERS NOMINATED BY WILSON

Washington, May 27.—(Special.)—Five Georgia postmasters are nominated today by President Wilson, but the name of V. L. Stanley, of Dublin, was not among them. The delay about the Dublin man has caused much interesting speculation, but Representative Hughes is entirely confident that his nominee will win out.

The confirmation of Mrs. H. W. J. Ham as postmaster at Gainesville has not yet been brought about, but is only a question of time.

By agreement the nomination of William J. Harris as director of the census will be confirmed the latter part of June and the change will take effect July 1.

Here are the Georgia postmasters sent in today:

Royston, Robert L. Stephenson; Lenoir, Ralph E. McKnight; Chipley, R. H. Dunlop; Glennville, Carrie B. Padgett; Unadilla, W. H. Beddingfield.

MISS BLISS IS BRIDE OF HER BROTHER-IN-LAW

New York, May 27.—(Special.)—Another chapter in a romance which began ten years ago in Savannah, Ga., was added today by the wedding in the North Presbyterian church, of Miss Mamie Bliss, daughter of the late Captain James S. Bliss, of Savannah, and Thomas H. McMillan, wealthy manufacturer of turpentine stills in that city. They were married by the Rev. Dr. John R. Mackay.

Mr. McMillan's first wife, who was a sister of Miss Bliss, died ten years ago, leaving three children. Miss Mamie Bliss at that time went into the McMillan household and has cared for and reared the children. When Miss Bliss recently decided that she would come to New York for a visit with her sister, Mrs. E. A. Usine, who lives on Washington Heights, and had started on her journey, Mr. McMillan found that he could not be without her, and followed the next day.

When the news of the marriage reached Savannah, scores of congratulatory telegrams were sent to the couple. A dinner was given in the McAlpin hotel for Mr. and Mrs. McMillan. They will go to Washington for their honeymoon.

MOB SPIRIT CREATED BY A NEGRO PYTHIAN

Pensacola, Fla., May 27.—W. S. Green, of New Orleans, grand chancellor of the negro Knights of Pythias, who insisted on riding in a Pullman with white people, was taken from a train at Milton, Fla., late last night by an angry mob. The timely arrival of the sheriff prevented personal injury, and the negro was lodged in jail for safe-keeping. This morning he was fined heavily for violating the "jim crow" law. He thanked the sheriff for the protection given him and got out of Milton tonight.

Montgomery, Ala., May 27.—Local police are now convinced that the charred body found in a burned box car here several days ago, was that of Clarence Shores, a well-known Montgomery youth. The young man has been missing since the day before the body was found, and it is believed that personal effects found in the ashes of the car will lead to complete indentification. Foul play is suspected by police and parents of the missing youth.

FINAL APPEAL IS MADE BY GEORGIA MILL MEN

Gordon, Massey, Smith and Others Oppose Cotton Schedule in Underwood Bill.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, May 27.—(Special.)—Hearings on the tariff before the senate finance committee concluded today. The sub-committee considering the cotton schedule, of which Senator Smith, of Georgia, is a member, sat until nearly midnight.

Several Georgia cotton men were present during the day. They included F. B. Gordon, president of the Columbus Manufacturing company; J. D. Massey, treasurer of the Eagle and Phoenix mills, Columbus, and E. W. Smith, of the Muskogee Manufacturing company, all of Columbus. Stuart W. Cramer, president of the American Cotton Manufacturing association, also appeared.

Mr. Gordon told the committee that there were 130 cloth and yarn mills in Georgia, capitalized at $14,621,000; knit goods manufacturers, whose combined capital was $794,000, and four woolen mills, having $500,000 capital, which would be affected by the reduction on textiles. The mill men are particularly anxious that a greater distinction be drawn between the grays and colored goods and on the piled cotton and finished yarns, and on the mercerized and fancy weaves of cloth as compared to the plain cloth weave.

Mr. Gordon said he was in favor of a tariff for revenue, but he wanted reductions to be brought about gradually.

"Don't listen to political sentiment," he said. "Listen to common sense, everyday facts. Who appeals to you? Every southern land with a cotton boll in his hand, every southern boy attending an agricultural college, every cross-roads cotton gin, every southern community, which by popular subscription has built a 5,000 or 10,000 spindle yarn mill, to which has been subscribed the hard earnings of the neighboring farmers and the widows of the county, looking for a safe investment."

WILSON NAMES JONES TO HEAD LAND OFFICE

Washington, May 27.—President Wilson today sent to the senate the following nominations:

First assistant secretary of the interior, Andrieus A. Jones, of Las Vegas, N. M.

Commissioner of the general land office, Clay Tallman, of Nevada.

Assistant commissioner of the general land office, Charles M. Bruce, of Arizona.

Postmasters—T. M. Muller, Hattiesburg, Miss.; J. H. Weddington, Charlotte, N. C., and S. S. McClenson, Tyler, Texas.

Mr. Jones is a lawyer, who has made a specialty of public land laws. He was at one time president of the New Mexico Bar association, is a member of the board of regents of agricultural college of New Mexico; chairman of the democratic state central committee, and democratic national committeeman from that state. He was born in Tennessee, but has lived in New Mexico since boyhood.

M. Tallman long has been a practicing lawyer in Nevada.

Mr. Bruce is a Virginian by birth, and for many years has resided in that state. For sometime he lived in Arizona, and during Mr. Cleveland's second term as president he was secretary of the territory of Arizona and for one year acting governor. His nomination will be so changed as to accredit him to Virginia.

Fred Dennett, the retiring commissioner of the general land office, will remain in Washington.

GUILTY OF LARCENY, SAYS PHILIP MUSICA

New York, May 27.—Philip Musica pleaded guilty to larceny today in connection with charges that he, his father and two brothers swindled banks out of nearly $600,000 by fraudulent invoices on exportations of human hair.

New Orleans, May 27.—Seventy-six thousand dollars, found in possession of Antonio Musica, of New York hair dealer, and his two sons and two daughters when they were taken into custody here several months ago in connection with charges of fraudulent invoicing, today was ordered by the United States district court to be turned over to the receiver of A. Musica & Sons, in New York. The decree also affects a note for $28,000 and other collateral possessed by the Musicas at the time of their arrest.

The court's decision overrules the contention of the Musicas that the property should be returned to them on the ground that it could not legally have been taken from their persons while they were under arrest. Claims of two local lawyers' firms for fees for defending the hair dealer and members of his family in criminal proceedings were partially allowed by the court.

The money and collateral affected by the court's order is now on deposit in a local bank.

DEFENSE IS OUTLINED FOR THE SHOE COMBINE

Boson, May 27.—The defense of the United Shoe Machinery company to the government's charge that it acquired the business of fifty-five subsidiary companies to form a monopoly, was outlined by Charles F. Choate, Jr., counsel for the company, today at the resumption of the dissolution proceedings in the district court. In his cross-examination of Nelson W. Howard, the defendant's patent attorney, Choate brought out the statement that the purchases were made largely to acquire patents.

Even in the case of competing companies acquired, Mr. Choate aimed to show that the patents were usually for improvements on shoe machinery superior to that of the defendant. As outlined by Mr. Choate the defense will be that the patents were acquired to keep the business of the defendant up-to-date in every respect.

Of the fifty-five companies mentioned in the bill as having been acquired to effect a monopoly, the government showed that forty-two ceased to do business along the lines they were formerly engaged in.

CLYDE LINER KATAHDIN IS REPORTED DISABLED

Charleston, S. C., May 27.—The Clyde line freight steamer, Katahdin, is lying disabled off the North Carolina coast, according to an interrupted wireless message received here this afternoon. An electrical storm put the wireless station out of commission as the message was being received, and the nature and extent of the Katahdin's injuries could not be ascertained.

TARIFF LOBBYISTS THROWN INTO PANIC

isiana sugar interests had taken to secure certain information, which he presented to the senate, he said:

"I suppose this is what some people would call 'insidious lobbying,' but it is what we consider an earnest and legitimate effort to try and save a large part of our state from this impending blow."

An echo of the Cummins resolution was heard shortly after it was laid aside, when Senator Lippitt, of Rhode Island, asked Chairman Simmons, of the finance committee, when the senate might expect to get the material being presented to the subcommittees in the shape of briefs. Senators Simmons replied that one book of briefs probably would be available tomorrow.

Senator Lippitt referred to the "seemingly almost organized attempt" to stifle information in regard to the tariff bill. One report, he said, was that those who came to Washington to testify in regard to the schedules had been threatened with "hanging as high as Haman," while another said a million-dollar fund would be raised to investigate those who testified.

Perplexing Tariff Problems.

Chairman Simmons, of the senate finance committee, will call at the state department tomorrow to discuss with Secretary Bryan the perplexing problems which have arisen because of foreign protests to administrative features of the tariff bill. Nearly the entire time of today's cabinet meeting was devoted to this phase of the situation.

Senator Simmons, after arranging today for a conference with the secretary of state, admitted that numerous protests had been filed with the committee from Germany, France, Great Britain and other countries. He said that before the committee took action relating to them, the whole question would be thoroughly discussed with the state department. Complaints have been made that certain clauses of the Underwood bill would abrogate treaties with foreign countries of was reported that the German embassador would soon bring to Washington a protest against the provision which would grant a 5 per cent discount in the tariff on imports of American-owned or controlled goods. There have been intimations that President Wilson would not object to an elimination of the provision, which is said to be held by Germany to violate the commerce and navigation treaty of 1828. Tmbassador Susserand, of France, also has lodged protests which the finance committee chairman and state department heads will discuss.

Tariff hearings by the senate finance subcommittee, which have been in progress for nearly a month, closed tonight, and tomorrow will begin the actual work of revising the schedules as they came from the house.

With the close of the hearings the tariff became the subject of discussion in the senate, enlivened by references to President Wilson's denunciatin of tariff lobbyists, and another tilt between democratic senators on the sugar question.

False Reflection of Public Sentiment.

Senator Thomas, of Colorado, in a speech during which he declared he would support the Underwood bill as it comes from the finance committee, branded as a false reflection of public sentiment in his own state the protest against the sugar schedule forwarded to the senate by bankers and commercial organizations of Denver. The communication had been submitted by Senator Shafroth, of Colorado, by request. Senator Thomas described the protest as the part of an organized effort being carried on by the beet sugar monopoly to manufacture artificial public sentiment and bring to bear on the senators from Colorado.

Many communications from people in Colorado urging the senator to stand by the democratic program were read.

Senator Thomas attacked the "overcapitalization of the beet sugar companies," declaring that the $50,000,000 capitalization of the companies in Colorado was $30,000,000 water, on which they paid dividends on the "preferred and watered stock" and that one of the companies had a surplus in excess of $10,000,000.

Senator Reed, of Missouri, said that a Michigan beet sugar company had a capitalization of more than $9,000,000, $5,000,000 of which was scheduled as good will.

Senator Thornton, of Louisiana, spoke of remarks made by Senator Martine, referring to the Louisiana senators as "calamity howlers." Senator Martine replied that he had not meant to reflect upon the Louisiana senators.

"But," Senator Martine continued, "I deny the right of the senators from Louisiana to come to the people of New Jersey and demand that we shall hold them up by the chins to keep their heads above water. You have known for a long time what was coming, and why in heaven's name haven't you adjusted yourselves? If you can't grow sugar, grow something else."

Senator Bryan, of Florida, today introduced an amendment to the tariff bill to increase the tariff on lemons and other citrus fruits.

U. C. T. Plan to Debate Tariff.

Part of the republican program for debating the tariff bill in the senate was outlined today.

More than twenty senators have long speeches in preparation. Senator La-Follette plans to talk for a week on many features of the bill.

Senator Burton will make one of the first speeches; Senator Oliver will discuss iron and steel; Senator Lodge, textile; Senators McCumber, Gronna, Norris, Nelson and Clapp the agricultural schedule; Senator Smoot wool, and Senators Borah, Works and Cummins are preparing lengthy arguments.

Whether Senator Fletcher and Senator Gore will risk being absent from Washington during the discussion was the problem put before President Wilson today. Mr. Fletcher, chairman of the commission appointed by the president to study rural credit abroad, explained he was anxious to attend the commission already in Europe. Senator Gore, also a member, is anxious to go soon.

Senator Fletcher said republican senators were not expecting to permit a tariff vote before August. He believes he can spend a month abroad and return in time to vote on the bill. Should Senators Fletcher and Gore not return in time their votes could be paired with two republicans certain to vote against the bill.

The difficulty, however, lies in the fact that their presence is wanted for the democratic caucus on the bill. Senator Kern, majority leader, had a brief talk with the president and the question probably will be settled by the democratic senators.

COASTER BRAKE MEN ARE HEAVILY FINED

They Must Pay the Government $81,500 for Violating the Sherman Law.

Rochester, N. Y., May 27.—Fines aggregating $81,500 were imposed tonight in United States district court by Judge John R. Hazel, of Buffalo, in the cases of six corporations and eleven individual defendants in the government's action against the socalled "Coaster Brake Trust," for violation of the Sherman law. This afternoon six corporations and eight individuals pleaded guilty to charges of conspiring to restrain trade and attempting to monopolize domestic and foreign trade. Four individuals pleaded nolle contendre. Three of the four were among the eleven defendants fined. Six additional cases were discontinued by nolle prosequi.

Corporations and Fines.

The corporations and the fines are: New Departure Manufacturing company, Bristol, Conn., $10,000; Corbin Screw company, New Britain, Conn., $10,000; Eclipse Machine company, Elmira, N. Y., $10,000; Miami Cycle and Manufacturing company, Middletown, Ohio, $10,000; Buffalo Metal Goods company, Buffalo, $2,000; Aurora Automatic Machinery company, Chicago, $2,000. The individuals fined are: Edwin E. Jackson, Jr., New York, arbitrator for combination, $3,500; Frederick R. Huntington, New York, arbitrator, $5,000; Albert F. Rockwell, New Departure company, $5,000; Dewitt Page, New Departure, $5,000; Charles F. Treadway, New Departure, $1,000; William A. Graham, New Departure, $2,000; Gales H. Moore, Bristol, patent attorney for combination, $1,000; Chas. Glover, Corbin Screw corporation, $4,000; Clarence A. Earl, Corbin Screw corporation, $4,000; Kelly R. Jacoby, Miami company, $4,000, and Ralph D. Wolster, Eclipse company, $3,000.

Sentence was suspended in the case of Emmett M. Jackson, because he was a Miami employee and was held not to be liable. Besides Emmett M. Jackson, the three to plead nolle contendere were E. E. Jackson, Jr., C. F. Treadway and G. P. Moore.

In imposing fines, Judge Hazel said: "The evidence shows the Sherman act was discussed among you and it would seem that efforts were made to get around it. Eight of your number pleaded guilty on two counts, avoiding an expensive trial for the government, and are willing to concur in the dissolution proceedings. For that reason I shall show leniency in leaving imprisonment out of your sentence and also in the amount of your fines."

The maximum penalty in the several cases was one year's imprisonment and $5,000 fine on each count.

A decree of perpetual injunction was agreed to by both defendants and the government, and was signed by Judge Hazel.

Civil Suit Settled.

The civil suit against the socalled "Coaster Brake Trust" was settled last week by the voluntary dissolution of the companies forming the alleged combination. The individuals indicted requested that the indictments be quashed. This United States Attorney John Lord O'Brien declined to do, and the arraignment at Rochester today followed.

The socalled "Coaster Brake Trust" was organized in Buffalo in 1908 for the purpose of fixing uniform prices for coaster brakes and other bicycle parts. Prior to its organization there were seven large corporations manufacturing bicycle and motorcycle sundries, including coaster brakes, each concern manufacturing its own coaster brake under its own patents.

Owing to sharp competition there was only a small margin of profit, and four of the manufacturers entered into an agreement to operate under a socalled patent license, which was to be issued by one of their number to the remaining three.

What Agreements Provided.

These four companies were the New Departure Manufacturing company and the Corbin Screw corporation of Connecticut, the Eclipse Machine company of Elmira, N. Y., and the Miami Cycle and Manufacturing company of Middletown, O.

The license agreements provided for a 25 per cent royalty per brake to be paid the New Departure company in return, the government claimed, for protection in the way of patent litigation against competitors, which was to be carried on by the New Departure company, the socalled licenser.

Three concerns remained for a time outside of the combination, but by means of patent infringement suits begun by the New Departure company, one of these was put out of business and the other two joined the combination. A selected list of bicycle jobbers were allowed discounts. By reason of this, the government claimed, the combination controlled the entire market in bicycle and motorcycle sundries.

Prior to the formation of the combination, bicycle coaster brakes sold at less than $2, and motorcycle coaster brakes at about $3. The combination raised the price to $2.25 and $5.50, respectively.

THE MEXICAN SITUATION.

It is reported that President Wilson and the state department will give careful consideration to the recent detailed plea of Paul Hudson, editor and publisher of The Mexican Herald, for recognition of the Huerta government by the United States. Mr. Hudson contributes to The Washington Post a lengthy statement of conditions throughout Mexico and of compelling reasons why the Huerta regime should be recognized by the United States.

The substance of his argument is that Huerta's crowd should be recognized as the lesser of two evils. It is either that or anarchy, he says, and anarchy under such conditions that the United States could not maintain its self-respect and the integrity of the Monroe doctrine without intervening. Mr. Hudson admits the brutality under which Huerta came into power. He declares Mexico was itself revolted by the murder of Madero and Suarez. But, he says, the deed is done, Madero would have had to go in any event, and the question now is of saving the country. He holds that the downfall of Huerta would better conditions in no way, but would simply precipitate chaos unending and the consequences of which no man could foresee.

These contentions are worthy of consideration. They appear to represent the sentiment of Americans in Mexico. If Huerta were recognized it would, of course, be purely a course of expediency, but the question is if it is not better to recognize the present government, and give it a trial, than, by not doing so, to invite calamity.

IN ATLANTA'S JUNGLE.

Atlanta has a jungle at its back door. The population of Atlanta's jungle—pitiful enough and helpless enough—walk abroad among our white population, enter our houses, cook our food, clean our clothes, tend our babes. Disease, filth, vice, crime abound in this jungle. That is why the jungle at our back door holds infinitely more menace to our white civilization than its more spectacular counterparts in distant lands.

Read the facts related elsewhere by Willie Dickerson Rush. She is the wife of J. A. Rush, a negro preacher who has been and is doing yeoman service in the campaign to uplift his own people, and especially to work with strong hope by beginning with the children of the race. This negro woman, whose work is commended to The Constitution by Mrs. Nellie Peters Black, speaks with authority. She gives pictures of the Atlanta jungle, and carries conviction because she describes conditions we all know to exist. Whatever of melodrama there is in her recital is purely unconscious and is the melodrama of naked and unpleasant truth.

She tells of the neglected negro children of Atlanta's jungle. How they are born amidst dirt, vice, disease, crime. How they roam about unkempt while father and mother are away "working for the white folks." Is it strange that thus handicapped from birth these negroes should grow up into menaces to the white civilization? From the cradle they breathe disease into their lungs and their moral fiber is crossed with degenerate impulses. So that ignoring this jungle at our back door we are in effect maintaining an incubator of disease and crime, the products of which will prey upon our own people in money, life, health, property.

From the recesses of this jungle come out the day laborers who mingle with us in factories, stores, warehouses; the cooks and maids and butlers, who prepare our food, tend our houses, nurse our children and achieve contact with us hourly at a dozen angles.

What are we going to do about the jungle at our back door? What are the churches going to do about it? Surely the jungle-folk in this instance are infinitely more menacing than those jungle-folk in far Africa on which the church annually lavishes millions. And the jungle environing Atlanta has its counterpart in every single southern community.

Until Gorgas cleaned the Isthmus of Panama white men could achieve nothing there; they died like flies of the jungle miasma. Atlanta and the south need an army of moral and religious Gorgases.

THE LEGACY OF HITCHCOCK.

The present plight of the postoffice department gives point to the saying, "the evil men do lives after them; the good is oft interred with their dead bones." Postmaster General Burleson soon after assuming office gave notice he would probe the department from sellar to dome. Here and there effects of the probe have been in evidence. But the core of the mischief has not been touched. Complaints of inefficiency multiply and congressmen become sorer and sorer as their constituents grow restless under demoralized mail facilities.

Obviously, present conditions are simply the inevitable legacy of Hitchcockism. The former postmaster general bent all his energies to build up a mythical surplus. He wanted to achieve a reputation for "doing things" that would stand him in profitable stead when he returned to private life. The public service paid the penalty.

Just how far-ramifying and firmly entrenched were the sinister influences of Hitchcockism is now beginning to be manifest. The man himself ceased personally to plague the public on March 4. The system he handed down still militates against efficiency and directness. Every day those in charge of the new regime turn up unexpected weaknesses and flaws as they progress farther in the work of rehabilitation.

There are two morals. The first is that Postmaster General Burleson should have the forbearance of the public while he unravels the tangled skein he inherited. The second is that public sentiment, having learned its lesson, should be so vigilant that it shall henceforth in the nation's history be impossible for the depredations of Hitchcockism to be duplicated.

MORAL OR IMMORAL?

Our stolid British cousins have been stirred to a stew of excitement by our old friends, the turkey trot, the tango, the bunny hug, the chicken flip and others of the "zoo" dances. The dignified London papers are vehemently taking sides, expending as much ink as over a Balkan crisis. Subscribers are overwhelming their favorite journals with pro-tango and anti-tango communications. And whenever "Vox Populi" and "Steady Reader" get busy in England you may know that public interest is stirred to its profoundest depths.

Some papers and their correspondents declare that the advent of these dances from America beckon millennium. They say the world cannot long survive such wickedness. Others aver with equal vigor that these weird terpsichorean steps are the essence of poetry-in-motion and create simply another bond between the countries. In the meantime, the same discussion rages unabated on this side of the Atlantic. The dances have split the nation up into two camps, both set in their convictions.

Even the admired Harper's Weekly has jumped into the fray. Mr. Inglis, a forceful and original essayist, rockets through three columns in a recent issue describing his sensations when witnessing the turkey. Mr. Inglis is too parliamentary to say directly what are his opinions. But the reader with the slightest imagination has no difficulty whatever in reading between the lines. He is really convinced that these recent dances are devices of the devil. In arriving at that decision his temperature rises visibly. He is mad clean through and doesn't care who knows it. We haven't the slightest personal knowledge of Mr. Inglis, but should imagine he had passed that period when the blood jumps quick in response to tuneful music.

Are these dances moral or immoral? That is, and must remain, purely a matter of individual conviction. When the round dances, now deemed harmless, were first introduced the majority of people indulged in many loud outcries. To this day a few churches ban them. Yet the overwhelming consensus of opinion sees nothing objectionable in them. Regarding the later dances, it is all in the spirit in which one approaches them. It is to be doubted if one out of a hundred people think anything about them other than that they are just—dances.

The most doleful sound from the tombs is the threat of the English suffragettes to blow up Westminster Abbey.

"I am not yet ready to become a candidate," says Senator La Follette—just as if he had received an invitation.

"Kissing will be abolished within the next century," says a Chicago woman. Dare her to tell her age.

President Wilson is optimistic; he hopes to fill all the offices before it's time to run again.

It isn't easy for a man to get lost in congress when all are speaking at once.

The Colonel, in court, may not feel like a bull moose, but he's as mad as one.

The Thirsty Guests of Billville.

I.

We gave a mighty banquet to our guests, from low an' high,
To celebrate the tariff a-comin' from the sky;
We passed the harmless grape juice, but they "spiked" it, on the sly,
An' they reeled away from Billville in the mornin'!

II.

The old toastmaster called 'em,—the speakers took the stand,
And said: "This mild juice brings us near Canaan's happy land!"
But underneath the table flasks went from hand to hand,
An' they reeled away from Billville in the mornin'!

III.

Oh, the beverage they brought along laid others in the shade;
All were "too full for utterance," and speeches few were made;
They crawled from under tables when we saw the red stars fade,
An' they reeled away from Billville in the mornin'!

To See the Old Tariff Come Down.

Just when the fields needed tillin' and field-hands were scarce in the town, they journeyed one day on the Washington way to see the old Tariff come down. And there they've been loafin' 'round congress, never once heedin' our call, while the corn is just dyin' for plowin', and the cotton is needin' them all! They think they're a-helpin' the country by leavin' us tillin' alone; but wait till the crops are all gathered and the winds of the bleak winter moan! When they sit at a table empty, facin' grim Poverty's frown, they'll know what it means for to leave the home-scenes to watch the old tariff come down!

Sometimes a storm is breakin' where the placid millponds be,

And since you cannot travel on the ocean's snowy crest,
Jes' sit before the millpond an' imagine all the rest.

The action of that thief in leaving me the sinkers is worthy of consideration, and I take this public method of extending to him my thanks."

When a little joy came to me I always managed to scatter samples of it among my friends. The fact is, it's impossible to keep Joy all yourself, but occasionally one celebrates it so loud he gets 30 days for disturbing the peace of the community. Watermelons beginning to vine, and cantaloupes the same,
A dad-burn catbird over there tellin' everyone his name."

New News of Yesterday

When Ex-Senator Depew Met the Poet Browning.

By E. J. EDWARDS.

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

"I see that recently there has been a revived interest in the poetical works of Robert Browning, possibly due to the fact that love letters between Browning and his wife were offered for sale," said Chauncey M. Depew to me recently.

"I gave a little address to some friends in Brooklyn a short time ago, in the course of which I spoke incidentally of a meeting which I once had with Browning. Possibly

E. J. Edwards.

I should have made the incident a little more interesting if I had described the impression which Mr. Browning's personality made upon me. I was a guest at a dinner which was given by a prominent citizen of Great Britain on one of my visits to England. I observed among the company who had assembled in the drawing room awaiting the summons to dinner a short, thick-set man. I remember that he wore a heavy beard. His manner was very animated. He seemed to know everybody. My first impression of this man was that he was a very prosperous merchant of Great Britain. His whole manner and personality were typical. I thought, of the man who had come up from nothing and who had achieved a great career as a merchant. I thought to myself that very likely he was the chairman of the board of directors of a company engaged in trade with some foreign country.

"To my intense astonishment and, I may say also, to my delight, I learned that this man was no tradesman, no merchant—although that would not have been at all to his discredit—but that he was none other than Robert Browning, whom I had always admired as one of the very great poets of the reign of Queen Victoria.

"It was my good fortune speedily to meet Browning and to have quite a chat with him. I could not imagine that this man, who was so much like an every-day being, but who was, nevertheless, most charming in his manner, although he talked like a man of affairs and not like a poet, was, nevertheless, the great Robert Browning.

"I think I hinted to him something of my feeling. It was probably this hint which led him to tell me of an experience of his own when he was a guest at a dinner given by the Duke of Sutherland in honor of the Shah of Persia.

"Browning told me that he was the only guest at that dinner who did not have some insignia of rank. There were many members of the nobility present, and the Prince of Wales was there. All wore their official regalia in honor of the shah.

"Browning told me that he felt very humble because he had no other badge of distinction to wear than the crimson gown with which he had been hooded by Cambridge university.

"But it was this gown which attracted the attention of the shah. Persia's ruler was accustomed to all the regalia of high rank, but he was not familiar with the crimson gown of honor man of Cambridge. Therefore, he asked someone who Browning was, and he was told that Mr. Browning was not a member of the aristocracy, but was well known in England as a great poet. Thereupon the Shah of Persia commanded that Mr. Browning be seated by his side; but, in order to give him this seat, one of the most distinguished members of the British aristocracy had to be displaced. When he was seated, the shah said to him, 'I understand that you are a great poet.'

"There came a funny little smile over Mr. Browning's face when he reached this part of the story. Nevertheless, he could not avoid saying what the shah had told him. He felt compelled to give his assent to the statement of the shah that he was a great poet.

"Thereupon the shah said to him, 'I want you to sit here by my side, while the dinner lasts. I want to talk to you because you and I are alike in one respect. I, too, am a great poet and am esteemed by my subjects in Persia.'

"Mr. Browning told me that, notwithstanding the somewhat embarrassing introduction, he had a very pleasant conversation with the somewhat unconventional Shah of Persia."

The World's Mysteries

MYSTERIES of LITERATURE

LONGFELLOW'S "EVANGELINE."

Longfellow is the most beloved of American poets and is more widely read than any other. Among his long poems, "Evangeline" has made an unusual appeal for the reason that there is so much heart-interest in the story. There is so much personel connected with this poem, which is so directly stated, that readers all over the country have believed that the story was founded on absolute fact, and that the personalities and location treated existed, and the visitor to Philadelphia is generally prone to ask to have the places connected with this poem pointed out to him.

There is usually much disappointment when Evangeline's grave is not to be found, or the site of the almshouse where the heroine found her Gabriel. Where did Longfellow get his facts, and were they authentic? No one can answer this. The accepted theory as to the origin of the story is that Hawthorne heard it and thought of making it the subject of a romance, but finally gave it to Longfellow as more suitable for an idyl. It is also said that Robert Walsh, a Philadelphia writer of the early part of the last century, had also assembled considerable historical matter on the subject which Longfellow gained from some source.

The story is thus set down in Hawthorne's notebook: "H. L. C heard from the French Canadians the pathetic story of a young couple in Arcadia. On their wedding day all men in the province were summoned to assemble in the church to hear a proclamation. When assembled they were all seized and shipped off to be distributed through New England; and among them was the new bridegroom. His bride set off in search of him, wandering about New England for a long time, and at last when she was old, reaching Philadelphia, where she found him on his deathbed in an almshouse. The shock was so great that it killed her likewise."

The girl had come to

"* * * that delightful land which is washed by the Delaware's waters, Guarded in sylvan shades the name of Penn the apostle," and ministered, a sister of mercy, in the midst of a pestilence, to poor dying souls in

"* * * the almshouse, home of the homeless,"

there to discover Gabriel on his dying pallet.

The visitor who is impressed with the story looks for them

"Side by side in their nameless graves," where

"Under the humble walls of the little Catholic churchyard,
In the heart of the city, they lie, unknown and unnoticed."

Longfellow himself says: "It was singular how I happened to find the climax to my story in Philadelphia. I was passing down Spruce street one day toward my hotel after a walk, when my attention was attracted to a large building with beautiful trees about it, instead of a high inclosure. I walked long until I came to a great gate, and I then stepped inside and looked carefully over the place.

"The charming picture of lawn, flower beds and shade which it presented made an impression on which has never left me, and twenty-four years after, when I came to write 'Evangeline,' I located the final scene—the meeting between Evangeline and Gabriel and his death at this hospital and the burial in the old Catholic graveyard nearby, which I found by chance in another of my walks. The interesting material Hawthorne gave me and my visit to the hospital in Philadelphia I appropriated for the groundwork of the poem."

The story of this poem grew out of the jealousy between the French and English in Nova Scotia, at that time called Arcadia, one of the chief differences being a dispute as to the oath of allegiance demanded of the people by the English. The Arcadians refused to take the oath unless it excused them from taking arms against the French, who were of their own flesh and blood. The demand was repeatedly made and as often refused until at last the English determined to free the country of French settlers and decided to scatter them through the North American colonies.

They did so, 454 reaching Philadelphia. Was Gabriel among them? It was difficult to know what to do with them, and they were finally landed in a posthouse on Province Island. But Anthony Benezet, a French settler in Philadelphia, appealed to the assembly in their behalf, and it responded charitably, a process which needed to be repeated for many years. Just how many facts are connected with Longfellow's poem, "Evangeline," will never be known.

HIS DAY IN COURT.

By Philip Weltner, Secretary Prison Association of Georgia

The wife was sitting back in the crowd of curious idlers. In her arms lay cuddled his baby boy. The husband was on trial.

Back and forth went the battle of wits. It was a grown-up's game of hide-and-seek. First the state scored a point, then his lawyer scored a point. On the bench sat the judge. The judge did not know of the wife back there. He did not see her straining eyes, as she watched, with baited breath, the duel going on. The judge was as innocent of her connection with the case as the little baby asleep on his mother's breast. Occasionally, when his side gained a momentary advantage, the husband would look back. Like as not, the wife forced a smile to her lips to encourage the man, hard pressed in the dock.

Finally, the jury filed out. The twelve men knew nothing about the wife back yonder. They were ignorant of the child, of the other children at home. It was a God's mercy that they were; one is so piteously demented.

The man was a farmer, an unlettered fellow, a renter. The officers caught him for selling whisky. He did not have money enough to employ much of a lawyer. Anyway, his case was tolerably clear.

Soon the jury came back. The foreman read out a verdict of guilty. "Eight months and a fine of $250." He stolidly stared ahead. The wife wept where she sat. The baby slept on. The solicitor folded the papers, and prepared for the next case. They carried the man off.

He is in the gang now. The little place is run down. The children are almost starving. The wife is a beggar. Thank God she is too old to be any worse.

The law says that he had his day in court. Did she have hers? Did the children have theirs? In the long night, aching though he is from his work, his mind drifts back to the old place. Pretty sorry, still it was home. On his back is a nightshirt made of stripped cloth. On his feet are the chains to which the men are fastened in the night. Perhaps through his brain runs the wail of his demented child. He wonders if God really cares; if God's people care.

Did he have his day in court? Is it just to crush the innocent in reaching the guilty? Is it just even to crush the guilty? Answer for yourselves.

Thanks The Constitution.

Editor Constitution: A few days since, a copy of a petition to the general assembly, praying for an increase of pension to confederate veterans, was mailed to the leading dailies of the state, with request that it be given publicity. On the 30th instant, under appropriate head lines, and with fitting introduction, a good synopsis of this petition was given by The Constitution. And now, in behalf of the old soldiers and their friends, I beg to thank The Constitution for its fairness, and for its faithful adherence to that policy, which has long made it the best of newspapers. Editor Constitution: Please allow me to thank you for your two editorials, also Mrs. Nellie Peters Black very gratefully for what she said concerning helping negro children to make decent and law-abiding citizens. I am a negro woman, with years of experience as a kindergarten teacher for street and alley children. Some of these little negro children come from homes that are black with vice and immorality; others from poor but honest homes, where the best their parents can do for them is to leave them in the street.

The father goes early to his work; the mother early to her work as cook, laundress or maid; consequently the children awake in the morning to find parents gone. They find a cold lunch, and are left to romp and roam wherever they like till night, when the twilight reminds them that it is time to go home, and their weary feet turn homeward, only to find the dark, dreary and often unkept room awaiting them. They fall asleep on the floor, on the steps, and I have seen them asleep on the sidewalk, "waiting for mamma to come."

Late in the night she comes, already too tired to do any more. She gives them a cold supper, and they toddle off to bed. If the mother is intelligent enough to know that their unkept bodies, their ragged clothes, will affect their characters through life, she has not the time to remedy it.

Contract Bad Habits.

If she finds out how many times these children have been for beer for some of the worthless women or men in the neighborhood, and of how many times they have been rewarded with a glass of beer, and in many cases whisky, she is at work and can't help it. If she knows how the little negro boys go in groups up and down the streets finding cigarette stubs, from which they can contract all manner of diseases, she can't help it. In most cases her husband has left her, and she has to work out all day to care for the children. If we could have places in which to gather these negro children, I believe there would be fewer negro boys in stripes and chains in the future.

We need places where we can teach these children to be good, honest and law-abiding men and women. We want to give these children free baths, lessons in sewing, sewing, gardening, etc.—a place where we can meet and help the fallen as well as the hard-working woman.

My husband is planning to build such a church in the western part of the city, and he expects to have all these good things in the building, and we are sure the good people of Atlanta will be glad to see him succeed in this undertaking.

"Unselfishness."

And though to hoard up wealth men ever strive,
Unto my riches gold is but as dross:
I bide my time when shouting vassals toss
Skyward their caps as tyrants o'er them drive,
For I was born in lowly ways and rude;
Nor purple nor fine linen is my dress;
The trembling voice, the tears of gratitude,
The dear remembrance of relieved distress,
These are my life—being my daily food—
And I am called by men Unselfishness.

Good Tools, Good Workmen.

(From The McDuffie Progress.)

This week the enterprising firm of A. H. Curtis & Son received a solid carload of mowers and rakes, peg-tooth harrows, disc harrows and stalk cutters. This is not the first shipment of farm machinery these people have gotten in this season, having sold a number of reapers and binders weeks ago. With the use of such up-to-date farm tools and machinery, McDuffie county farmers can no longer be classed as "behind the times."

GEORGIA CONDUCTOR MISSING IN ATLANTA

W. S. Culpepper, of Augusta, Was Seen Last Early Monday Afternoon.

Where is W. S. Culpepper, of Augusta, conductor on the Georgia railroad?

This is a question which was being asked at the police station early yesterday afternoon by relatives of the young man. The last seen of Culpepper was on Monday afternoon, when he told some of his friends in the railroad yards that he would be on hand to take out his freight, No. 210, on that night. At train time he had not shown up, and the railway officials had to hustle around and put a substitute in his place.

Word was sent to his family in Augusta inquiring his whereabouts, and his father took the next train to Atlanta, as he had not seen his son since the day before, it is said.

Tuesday morning and afternoon his relatives, friends searched every hospital and infirmary in the city of Atlanta, hoping to find some trace of the young man. Likewise the police station was visited, but no trace of the missing man was found.

The theory advanced is that it would have been easy for strangers to have become acquainted with him, lure him into some den and there dope him and take what valuables he had on his person.

Culpepper has a wife and child in Augusta, and is one of the most popular young men in the service of the Georgia railroad. Just recently he was promoted to the position of freight conductor, and as he has never been known to drink, and has a good moral character, the mystery is deepened.

Culpepper is about 24 years of age, medium height, slim, with sandy hair and bright sparkling eyes. He has made a most excellent record since being with the Georgia railroad, and every effort will be made to find him.

COMMISSION AT WORK ON CAR SCHEDULES

The state railroad commission was in executive session for several hours yesterday on the proposed changes in schedule of the local street car system. The details and figures furnished by the Georgia Railway and Power company were gone into at some length. The board will go into executive session again today on the subject, and it is expected that a new order will be promulgated, as a result, making several changes in schedules and otherwise improving the street car service.

HIS RESCUE FROM DRINK TO BE TOLD BY COPES

How he was rescued from a drunken debauch two years ago will be told tonight by George S. Copes, at the Union Rescue Mission, at the second anniversary celebration of his conversion. Mr. Copes will tell of his police record for drunkenness, and of his slavery to narcotics of all kinds, until one night, two years ago, he stumbled into the Union Rescue Mission, "drunk as a lord."

That night he saw the folly of his ways, and since then he has not touched even one drop of liquor, nor has he used tobacco. Today he is a man of means, dedicating his life to reclaim drunkards and degenerates. Nearly every evening he can be found at the Rescue Mission, of which he is now one of the trustees.

Mr. Copes, assisted by several ex-drunkards, will conduct tonight's services, and a general invitation is extended to attend the meeting at 8 o'clock tonight.

PLANS ARE COMPLETED FOR CHATTANOOGA TRIP

Returning, it will leave Chattanooga at 4 o'clock and will arrive in Atlanta at 7:50. This will give the party four hours in which to inspect the exhibit in Chattanooga.

A good number of members of the chamber have signified to Secretary Walter G. Cooper their intention of going on the inspection trip. Those members who have not done so and who expect to go are requested to communicate with the secretary by telephone before noon today.

OIL MILL MEN MEET IN ATLANTA AGAIN

Great Increase in Representatives and in Exhibits Over Last Year Promised.

Through the invitation of the Atlanta convention bureau, the Interstate Association of Oil Mill superintendents, which held its annual convention here last year, has decided to meet in Atlanta again this year, holding their 1913 convention in the Auditorium during the week of June 4. Reservations have been made for 400 representatives from North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi. This number doubles the number of representatives who came to Atlanta last year. That there were only fifty present at the first convention, held in Macon in 1911, is indicative of the growth of the organization.

Another item which indicates the rapid increase in the proportions of the annual conventions of the oil men is the fact that while Taft hall was amply large to accommodate the machinery exhibits of the local auxiliary of superintendents of oil mill machinery, the men who manufacture the products which the others use, this organization has been compelled this year to engage the entire ground floor of the main Auditorium for the machinery exhibits. J. T. Burress, of the Burress Engineering company, in the Empire building, is president of the local auxiliary, and S. C. Myers, associate editor of the Southern Engineer, is its secretary.

In addition to the business meetings, an elaborate program of entertainment has been outlined for the visitors.

The convention will hold its first meeting at the Auditorium Wednesday morning, June 4. J. T. Holmes, of Shellman, Ga., president of the association, presiding. Fred Houser, secretary of the Atlanta convention bureau, will welcome the oil men, and Mr. Holmes will respond. Another session will be held that afternoon.

Wednesday night there will be a smoker, and Thursday night the convention men will attend the Forsyth theater in a body. Friday afternoon the Atlanta Manufacturers' Supply association will entertain them at a barbecue at East Point.

The registration office will be in Taft hall.

SOVEREIGN SECRETARY YATES IS ENTERTAINED BY ATLANTA WOODMEN

Local members of the Order of Woodmen of the World entertained their sovereign secretary, John T. Yates, of Omaha, Neb., at an informal reception at Cable hall last night. There was a good attendance of members of J. C. Root Camp, No. 80, to here the sovereign secretary tell of the work that was being done by the order, particularly in the west.

Dr. F. L. Rosenthal, of Columbus, Ga., head counsel, representing the 600 camps of Woodmen in Georgia, presented Mr. Yates to the local camp. On the stage, with the speaker and Dr. Rosenthal, were William A. Roane and Newton Phillips, sovereigns of the local lodge.

Joseph Cullen Root, sovereign commander of the order, was expected to be present at last night's meeting, but was detained on the way and did not reach Atlanta with Mr. Yates. Mr. Root and Mr. Yates have been making a tour of southern cities in the interest of their order while on their way to the biennial convention of Woodmen of the World, which meets in Jacksonville, June 10.

This morning Mr. Yates will be taken for an automobile trip about the city and will leave for Columbus this afternoon.

PENAL REFORM URGED BY MAJOR A. H. ULM

That judges should be permitted by law to suspend sentences in misdemeanor cases and even in some felony cases is the opinion of Major A. H. Ulm, executive secretary to Governor Brown, through whose hands pardon applications pass on their way to the governor. Judges would be in a better position to administer justice in their courts and a considerable burden would be taken off of the shoulders of the chief executive, the major thinks.

There are other reforms in our prison system which Major Ulm would like to see the legislature enact this summer. For instance, there should be an indeterminate sentence law. Also defendants who are compelled to go to jail because they have not money to pay their fines ought to be released if, during the period of their confinement they manage to raise the necessary funds to pay the fine.

"As the law now stands," said Major Ulm yesterday, "a penalty is laid on poverty and misfortune. A person charged with a misdemeanor is given the option of paying a fine or going to jail. He is unable from poverty to pay the fine, and, if he goes to the gang, there is no provision made for his release if he succeeds in raising the money subsequently. All he can do is to appeal to executive clemency. Now there are many prisoners who, at the time of their arrest, are unable to reach their relatives and friends. The law imposes a burden on the man without funds, while the rich are allowed to escape with a money payment."

WELL FILLED SPECIAL TRAIN BEARS ATLANTA VETERANS TO REUNION

A special train on the Western and Atlantic railroad left the Union depot at 8 o'clock yesterday morning carrying large delegations of Confederate Veterans from the camps of Atlanta and vicinity to the reunion in Chattanooga. There were eleven coaches and all were practically full of the men who wore the gray, their relatives and friends.

Many of the old vets were accompanied by their wives and daughters. There were also numbers of sons of veterans on the train.

The old soldiers marched to the depot to the sound of the rattle of the Kettle drum and the shrill note of the fife. The camps, headed each by its commander, marched into the station and formed in long parallel lines along the track on which the special came in. Old and feeble, though they were, the sound of martial music still thrilled their veins and the thought of attending one more reunion of their brothers in arms gave a sparkle to their eyes and almost youthful vigor to their steps.

Klack Knocked Unconscious.

While opening a signal box at the corner of Houston and North Pryor streets Tuesday morning at 6:30, Patrolman L. J. Klack, of the local force, was knocked unconscious by a charge of electricity coming from a lighting flash. The officer was just going to report to the main office when a lightning flash struck a wire running to the box. Klack was knocked to the earth unconscious, and passersby took him to his rooms, where he was unconscious for several hours.

Relieved eczema instantly

Philadelphia, Pa., March 28, 1913: "Resinol has surely been a friend in need to me. I had eczema on my face. It was in the form of a rash. I used many treatments, without any results. I tried Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment, and it gave me instant relief, and very thankful I was, for my whole head felt like it was afire. I told the doctor about Resinol and he highly recommended it and told me to continue its use. I am now completely cured of that dreadful disease after using only about four jars of Resinol Ointment and washing with Resinol Soap." (Signed) Miss Carolene B. Laughlin, 174 Pleasant St., Mt. Atlanta Upholds Chief Beavers

The "Itching Palm" and The Character Assassin Have No Place Here.

The itching palm.

Judas Iscariot had it.

Thirty pieces of silver upon his hand, and Judas betrayed his Lord.

Poor Judas, learning too late the curse of the itching palm, threw away the money and killed himself in shame and sorrow.

Notwithstanding, itching palms are here today.

And again and again would they betray Christ, our Savior, and rear for Him a cross.

Their pay coming from the betrayal of girls matters not to them.

If they get their hire, they care not that their success would mean the dishonoring of motherhood, the blinding of babies, and the spreading of disease, insanity and death among innocent children and women.

These, they ignore with a sneering curse.

But you do not; you care and understand; you recall.

Annually seven hundred thousand dollars and more poured through the white slave market of Atlanta into the itching palm.

The lie of segregation so prospered seven houses that their reputed owners received forty-three thousand and seventy-four dollars in the form of rent every year, more than twice as much as the rental of thirty-three other houses scattered throughout the city.

Chief Beavers closed them all and ended the ghastly farce of segregation.

Eight months have passed and the owners of the itching palms have become frantic.

For eight months the "unbreakable bank of the corrupt politician" has been hampered by the honesty of a man whose palms will not itch.

How much have the owners of the houses and the liquor dealers lost?

Eight months is two-thirds of a year; two-thirds of seven hundred thousand dollars is four hundred and sixty-six thousand, six hundred and sixty-six dollars and sixty-six cents.

How their palms do itch!

And they have despaired of corrupting the Chief.

They have to get rid of him, if they ever open again their market, with its unspeakable pimps and procurers plying their trade of debauching girls.

IS THIS CONNECTED WITH THE RECENT STUDIED EFFORT TO DISCREDIT THE CHIEF AND ATLANTA'S POLICE DEPARTMENT IN THE EYES OF THE WORLD?

Consider this before you answer.

The Chief can be removed from office only for inefficiency proven by trial before the Police Board.

Incorruptibility is not inefficiency.

And an unwillingness to violate one's oath—a refusal to let criminals live upon the shame of women, is no evidence that a man is incompetent to be Chief of Atlanta's Police Force.

Hence the plight of protected vice and its servants.

THEY CANNOT CORRUPT; HENCE, THEY SEEK TO RUIN WITH LIES.

Their itching palms know not how to labor honestly, though they are skilled in squeezing money from helpless, fallen women, their "meal tickets."

Being hungry, they snarl and snap.

God pity them and open their eyes to the unutterable degradation!

The outside world is pointing to the fearless honesty of our Chief of Police and the efficient way in which he is handling the most difficult of all city problems.

And in this age of graft he will not be sacrificed to put into office a dishonest man, satisfactory to the owners of brothels and bars and their henchmen.

Never!

AND ATLANTA WILL REMEMBER FOR FUTURE RECKONING THOSE MEN, IN OR OUT OF OFFICE, WHO TRY TO HAMPER THE CHIEF AS HE DOES HIS DUTY.

Recall the itching palms of the servants of protected vice and be on your guard.

"A lie turned loose put Christ on the Cross." Nail their lies!

Note those who are trying by the most foul of all means, character assassination, to bring back upon Atlanta the disgrace of a traffic which demands for its existence the sacrifice of innocent girls.

For the day of accounting is coming.

Vice is fighting to regain the privilege of making dirty dollars by defiling women.

Chief Beavers is battling for decency and health, the welfare of our families and your loved ones.

He does not fight alone. You are with him.

Thank God! You are awake and watching.

Chief Beavers and his men will be upheld by Atlanta.

COL. ANDREWS WILL GIVE BRYAN DINNER

Secretary of State to Go From Train to Capital City Club. Grapejuice to Be Served.

When William J. Bryan arrives here Monday afternoon to deliver the principal address in connection with the quarter-centennial celebration of the Technological school, he will be given a dinner at the Capital City club by Colonel Walter P. Andrews. A number of prominent people of the city will be invited to meet the secretary of state at this dinner. It may be noted that grapejuice will be on the bill of fare and that nothing stronger in the way of liquid refreshments will be served.

Mr. Bryan is due to arrive in Atlanta at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon. From the station he will be taken to the club to dinner by Colonel Andrews. The dinner will be at 6 o'clock. At 8 o'clock Mr. Bryan will be taken to the Grand to make his speech. It is not unlikely that Colonel Andrews, who is himself now absent from the city, but who has written in advance to make arrangements for the dinner, will reach Atlanta on the same train with the distinguished visitor.

Those who are arranging for the Tech celebration are being congratulated on securing so eminent a speaker as Mr. Bryan to participate in the affair. There will be a large delegation of the institution's alumni from out of the city to hear him and the event will be one long to be remembered by all friends of the institution.

MISS BLANCHE WALSH IN PICTURES AT GRAND

Atlantans who remember the powerful presentation of the Tolstoi drama, "The Resurrection," at the Grand several seasons ago, will be especially interested in the announcement that Miss Blanche Walsh will be seen again this week in the same role, and at the same theater—but this time at prices of a dime and a quarter, whereas the former scale was $2 down.

Miss Walsh will open her engagement as Katusha, in "The Resurrection" on Thursday morning, and play through the remainder of the week, without stopping even for meals. She will give five or six performances daily.

For this time it is a picture show. Miss Walsh, whose work in "The Resurrection," "The Kreutzer Sonata" and "The Woman in the Case," won her such fame, has joined the ranks of the stars who have found the small fortunes paid by the "movies" well worth considering, and she has just completed her week of posing before the motion picture camera, for the Tolstoi drama.

POINT IS GAINED BY POWER COMPANY

top of the gorge, as the boundary points of the land.

Professor Charles M. Strahan, who headed the University of Georgia survey party, then took the stand and explained to the jury the exact lay of the land around Tallulah Falls. Attorney General Felder outlined the evidence of the witnesses who were to follow as proving that every one of the land lots on both sides of the river extended only to the top of the gorge, while the land on which the power plant is situated is actually the property of the state. When the session convenes Wednesday morning, the testimony for the state will be resumed. It is believed that all the evidence on both sides will be completed Wednesday.

A Jury of Georgia Farmers.

By far the most interesting development of the day was the selection of the jury. Eleven of the twelve jurymen are farmers of Rabun county—the sturdy mountain stock of people, in whose veins, it has been said, runs the purest Anglo-Saxon blood in America. The twelfth juryman is a school teacher—M. L. Bramlett, of the Stone Pile district, near Tallulah.

Everyone of these twelve men is a native of Rabun county, or has lived here for so many years that he is thoroughly imbued with the home-loving instinct of the north Georgia population, which almost invariably includes an intense love for Tallulah Falls. Four of the jurymen are men of gray hairs—Dan Kell, John Dotson, Sidney Bradley and J. L. Welborn, every one a highly respected farmers of the district around Clayton. J. A. Tanner and W. A. Bradley are prominent land owners in the Tennessee valley; W. M. Baker and William N. Wall are from Tallulah Falls, while David M. Rogers, Will Burrell and Jim Williams are also farmers in the vicinity of Clayton.

In the hands of these eleven farmers and a school teacher, therefore, rests the outcome of the first hearing of the nationally famous Tallulah Falls land suit—men who have since their boyhood stood on the banks of the purling Tallulah and listened in rumbles over the enormous precipices in the gorge. If these men say the word, the land along the Tallulah banks will be declared the property of the state of Georgia, and the power company will be ordered to evacuate.

Company Won First Tilt.

The first real legal tilt of the trial was won Tuesday morning by the attorneys for the power company in obtaining the overruling of the demurrer of the state. At the last moment the power company withdrew its demurrer to the original suit, and announced it was ready to proceed with the evidence at once.

The answer of the power company to the state's suit set forth that the legislature of 1906 had virtually admitted the private ownership of the falls in appointing a committee to investigate the advisability of buying the land around the falls in order to preserve it for a park. Luther Z. Rosser ren dthe answer of the company.

Edgar Watkins then read the demurrer of the state, claiming that the legislative resolution of 1906 could have no effect at all on the question of whether or not the state owned the land; that this was a point for the courts alone to settle, and that the legislature could not settle any question of land ownership without violating the constitution. This demurrer of the state was for the purpose of barring the company's answer from the evidence.

Judge Jones overruled the demurrer, however, saying that the answer might go in as evidence, and that he would cover the legal phase of the question in his charge to the jury. The gaining of this point, while it will probably not affect the final outcome of the case, was in reality the first real bout between the opposing lawyers. Alex C. King, of Atlanta, made a forceful presentation of the power company's contention in the matter of the resolution of 1906.

Mrs. Longstreet Not Present.

Mrs. Helen D. Longstreet, president of the Tallulah Falls Conservation association, has not appeared on the scene, and she is not now expected by the lawyers for the state.

While the crowd that gathered in the courthouse today was small, the interest is intense among the coterie of lawyers and officials who are present at the hearing.

It is the belief of the lawyers that all the evidence in the case will be completed by wednesday, placing the case in the hands of the jury late that evening, so that the result of the hearing will probably be known by Thursday morning.

PLAYERS' CLUB TICKETS ON SALE AT FORSYTH

Tickets for the performance of the Players' club, which will produce "The Importance of Being Earnest" at the Grand on June 5, have been placed on sale at the Forsyth and are going rapidly. Officials of the club predict that those who do not purchase seats within the next two days will find themselves disappointed in having to take what is left.

The first three rows have been reserved for the players, and these may be secured from Hamilton Douglas, Jr., the club secretary. Many of these have already been reserved for the families of those participating in the play.

EVANGELICAL SERVICES AT IMMANUEL CHURCH

Throughout the present and coming week a series of evangelistic services will be conducted at the Immanuel Baptist church on Fair street. Rev. A. V. Pickens, the pastor, has secured as his assistants for the series Rev. T. P. Callaway, of Macon, and Charles Butler, fir many years the soloist in the Torry-Alexander and Billy Sunday meetings.

Already the services are gripping the church members, and the community surrounding, and it is confidently believed that the meeting closes a glorious revival will have resulted.

COOLER ON TUESDAY; MERCURY RISES TODAY

A shift of the wind to the west brought in cool air to Atlanta and surrounding territory yesterday, and the maximum temperature at 3 o'clock was only 67 degrees, or one point higher than at 7 o'clock in the morning.

For today the mercury is due to rise again to a place above 70 degrees and a slow rise is expected to put it back at the normal within a short time.

The fair weather that has continued since the heavy rains of the early part of last week is to continue, according to the weather man, and ideal weather will be in store for Atlanta.

GOTHAM TAXI FARES ARE CUT HALF IN TWO

New York, May 27.—The Grimm taxicab ordinance abolishing private stands on public streets and virtually cutting in half the present taxicab fares in New York, was passed today by the board of aldermen, with only one dissenting vote. The measure now will go before the mayor and will become effective sixty days after being signed.

The measure reduces the fare to 50 cents for the first mile and 40 cents for each additional mile for two passengers and to 70 cents for the first mile and 60 cents for each additional mile for three or more passengers.

Bryan Indorses Metcalf.

Washington, May 27.—Richard L. Metcalf, editor of The Commoner at Lincoln, Neb., has been recommended by Secretary Bryan to a member of the Philippine commission. It is believed the appointment will soon be made.

Superfluous Hair Truths

Stop Experimenting

There are but few depilatories sold. You think there are hundreds because you have used the same identical preparations under several different names. This is easily explained. Women stop using

when they learn that they are harmful. Therefore, th y can not be sold under the same name for any length of time. Then the identical, worthless, harmful concoctions are given new names and advertised again as totally different preparations to who innocently buy them over and over again under different names, and this will continue as long as women are so unwise as to experiment with unknown, so-called hair removers.

De Miracle Has Stood the Test of Time

De Miracle has been sold as De Miracle for over eleven years, and its name has never been changed. It is acknowledged the world over by eminent authorities as the one safe, perfected hair remover, therefore, it is the only depilatory you can use without experimenting.

Leaves No Tell-Tale Smell

If you use De Miracle it will be impossible for any discerning person to know that you have used a hair remover because De Miracle evaporates immediately after accomplishing its work, therefore leaves no odor whatever. On the other hand, if you use any depilatory with a distinctive odor, an offensive, tell-tale smell will cling to your skin for hours.

Instant Postum

Is in thousands of homes where health is valued.

Former coffee users who have felt the pinch of indigestion, headache, heart disturbance, nervous irritation, etc., have written by the score, telling of remarkable benefits following the change from coffee to Instant Postum.

A level teaspoonful in an ordinary cup of hot water dissolves instantly and makes it right for most persons.

A big cup requires more and some people who like strong things put in a heaping spoonful and temper it with a large supply of cream.

Experiment until you know the amount that pleases your palate and have it served that way in the future.

"Thanks for the sample of Instant Postum sent me. I have been drinking coffee for a long time and thought it would be difficult to give it up, but I was mistaken.

"While I was drinking coffee I always felt exhausted and I weighed but 112 lbs. After using Instant Postum I soon recovered and now am as healthy as any person can be. I now weigh 120 lbs. and am steadily gaining in weight." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Postum comes in two forms.

Regular (must be boiled).

Instant Postum doesn't require boiling, but is prepared instantly by stirring a level teaspoonful in a cup of hot water.

Both kinds are sold by grocers everywhere

By losing Tuesday the Crackers dropped down another peg, and Chattanooga is now tied with us for fourth place. Help!

Crackers Tied For Fourth Place

EDITED BY Dick Jemison

WHIFFS

Lack One Thing.

THE CRACKERS take themselves too seriously. This is the one thing that is the matter with the locals. A little more of the good natured, laugh-at-yourself spirit will not better results. Don't look so glum out there on the old ball field. Laugh at yourself. Take things as a matter of course, get in there and hustle with a smile and see what the results will be.

What Is Needed.

HILSAND opens up for a while, then stops. Wallie Smith catters occasionally. Agler has something to say now and then. Whitey gets settled once in awhile and we have a few words to say. Tommy Long is the silent man of the bunch. Bill Chappelle is getting into shape and will soon be pitching games worth watching, and see the results that will be obtained. You're a great ball club, boys, but you need a little waking up. Put a little life into the game this afternoon and see what the result will be.

Race Is Tight.

THE SOUTHERN league race is getting to be a hoss race, with the Gulls lead being cut down rapidly and the next five teams in such a bunch that a game won and lost can reverse the six-place team with the second. Looks like some fur will fly. And the way the teams are going, it's a toss up. It is going to be one grand race all summer, or we miss our guess. That is if we have any summer. Yesterday was good football weather.

A Proud Record.

RABBIT Long, of the Crackers, has not only made more hits than any player in the Southern league this season, but as far as we can ascertain, he is the first player in any league in the country who has made more than sixty hits this season. And if the Rabbit keeps up his present clip he will bang loose more safeties this season than were ever made in the Southern league.

Has Real Club.

OUR KELLYS are doffed to Kid Elberfeld, of the Lookouts. The human pepper box kept changing and changing the personnel of his Lookouts until he got a combination that suited him. Now he appears to have a club that is going to make it a warm proposition for the rest of them in the pennant scrap. He is to be commended for his perseverance, if he doesn't break the bookbooks of the Lookout owners first.

Will Pay.

SUNDAY baseball will pay in Nashville. As the game Sunday between the Lookouts and the Volunteers, 3,748 paid admissions were registered. And the Crackers have a game there next Sunday.

Take Him Back.

IRON MAN Glen Liebhardt, recently released by the Minneapolis club of the American association, is going back to the scene of his former triumphs. Reports have it that the Memphis Turtles are going to sign up their former star and release Southpaw Kroh.

A Correction.

YESTERDAY we apologized to Hugh Roberts, dean of sport writers, for insinuating that he and Barney Sherman, of the Register, had indulged in a war of words. Our apology was out of place, judging from the following, which we glean from the Register: Hugh Roberts, the Brainy old head, who writes sports for the Birmingham Age-Herald, is still after us. After denying that he is a knocker and modestly admitting that he's some sport writer, he dreams a long article in which he calls us everything in the calendar, and then asks that the argument end. We regret, however, that the Barons are lucky, and Roberts, too, to fool one paper as long as he has. Right, the table flounces with the rest of the animals." If this isn't cause for an argument, then we'd like to know what is.

Needs Work.

ELLIOTT DENT, the Crackers' big right hander, needs only one thing to make him a winning pitcher—work. He has been sitting on the bench at Washington so long that his system is flabby and when he does get a chance to work for six innings it tires. But he'll get into the world's form now on. So wait 'n bye 'n see. He will prove a winning pitcher, watch this prediction.

Will Be In Hunt.

ANY TIME that you find a team that has five of its players among the first ten leading run getters in the league, that team should be feared. This is the case with the Crackers. Long, Agler, Wellborn, Alperman and Smith are the five men. A continuance of this and the Crackers are sure to be right up with the leaders all throughout the season.

Thrill on Thrill.

ATLANTA fans and fans will have their craving satisfied in the near future. A visit to Jack Prince's motordome will be all that will be necessary. When they see six speedsters on a quarter-mile track at one time, all of them going ninety miles an hour and sliding at a horizontal angle, the last word in speed will be shown. There will be more excitement in a night at one of these meets than in a whole automobile race meet. The man with the most nerve will breast the tape first.

Swindell Good in Pinches; Pelicans Win Second Game; Final of the Series On Today

By Dick Jemison.

Josh Swindell was overdue. And as luck would have it, he arrived against the Crackers Tuesday afternoon. But at that, he got all the little breaks in the game to score the win.

The count was 8 to 2.

It was the first game that Swindell has won since the opening game of the season, when, relieving Evans in the game with Mobile, he got credit for the victory over Pug Cavet.

This was "break" number one that Swindell got, and a thousand and one little incidents throughout the game turned to his favor in the tight places, all the close plays going to him, though we must hand it to him for getting better as he went along.

Bill Chappelle twirled for the Crackers. Bill is not altogether to blame for the loss of the contest, despite the fact that the Birds got eleven hits off his delivery. Eight of them came in the last four innings, after errors of judgment had tossed the battle away.

Some Good Hitting.

Swindell was an enigma to all but three of the Atlanta players, these three, Long, Welchonce and Smith, touching him up for eight hits, the former two, three each, and the last named, two, one a circuit smash.

Spencer and Clancy were the hitting boys for the Pelicans, their wallops doing the most damage, the former getting a homer and a single, and the latter two singles. All of them scored runs.

Hendryx in center field, with six putouts, and Smith, on third, with five clean chances, were the fielding stars of the day.

Chappelle made a pretty one-handed catch of a bunt from Williams' bat in the second and turned it into a double play.

Captain Alperman was hurt during the pastime. Spencer hit one at Whitey in the sixth inning that went skimming along the ground, and just as it got to him it took a false hop and hit Whitey in the face. The whack was heard in the press box.

But the game field leader did not quit the fray. However, the Pelican baseball evidently had it in for Whitey, for Clancy lined one at him in the next inning and Whitey tackled it with one hand, momentarily stopping the flying pellet, but so hurting his hand that he was forced to retire from the fray.

How They Scored.

The Crackers were the first to score, Walter Smith pickling the first ball pitched in the second inning over Hendryx's head to the signboard in deep center field for the circuit.

The Pelicans grabbed the lead in the fourth. Atz got a single, but Clancy and Breen were easy. Chappelle had Spencer in the hole and threw to first to him a slow one on the inside. The Birds left fielder stepped back and laced the pellet over the signboard at the bottom of right field bank for the circuit, scoring his captain ahead of him.

Smith opened the Crackers' half with a hit, was sacrificed to second by Bilsland, went to third on a wild pitch, and scored when the Pelicans attempted to make a double play and failed.

The Crackers ought to have scored in the first inning, when Tommy Long went to sleep on third base. In the fifth he was thrown out at the plate on a short fly to center.

An error by Agler, who has been making them regularly of late, caused the downfall of the locals. Get a hold on yourself, Joe. Come on with a little more pep out there on that initial cushion. Shake things up a little. You're too good a ball player to go all to pieces this way. Go right back at 'em again this afternoon, Joe, and show 'em that you are just momentarily off your stride, and our claim that you're the best first baseman that ever played in this league is justified.

When the Game Was Won.

As insinuated above, with one gone, Agler dropped an easy infield fly from Atz's bat and Clancy was easy, but Breen smashed a double to right and the Pelicans had won a ball game.

Spencer slammed one to Alpermann and it looked easy, but the ball took the bad hop mentioned above and another run counted.

The real fireworks happened in the seventh, which instead of being termed the "lucky seventh," should be called the "unlucky seventh," for all the Crackers opposing teams have been winning games in this inning of late. Spencer popped up a high one by the pitcher's box. Agler got into the festivities again by gumming up the play and yelling "I got it," only to let it drop safe. Heads up, today, Joe. It's so unlike you to pull these that we are prone to let it pass without anyany more comment.

Adams bunted, advancing Snedecor. Swindell singled, Snedecor being held on third by Bailey's fine peg to the plate. Hendryx smashed one to left, scoring Snedecor. Atz drew a free ticket. Then Clancy hit the wallop that crippled the Atlanta captain, and two runs sifted across the plate. Rohe replaced Alpermann for the remainder of the game.

Swindell opened the ninth with a single, but was forced by Hendryx, who stole second, went to third on a passed ball and scored on Clancy's safe wallop.

Finis Wilson and Gilbert Price, southpaws, will probably twirl the battle this afternoon, and the Crackers ought to make it two out of three.

Nashville, Tenn., May 27.—Memphis won an exciting eleven-inning game from Nashville today, score 4 to 3. Williams was batted out of the box when the visitors made three runs in the opening inning, and was relieved by Fleharty, who blanked the visitors until the eeleventh, when singles by Baerwald and Abstein drove the winning run across. Fleharty allowed but four hits. Baerwald's hitting and brilliant fielding was the biggest factor in Memphis' victory.

Charleston, S. C., May 27.—Savannah defeated Charleston today 1 to 0 in an errorless game. Both Foster and Robertson were in prime form. Foster lost the pitchers' duel, however, when, in the sixth after Glebel had singled and stolen second and two were out, Lipe hit a terrific liner that struck him on the leg and bounced to the left field for two bases, Glebel scoring the only run of the game on the freak double. A running catch by Keating in left brought the spectators to their feet.

The Jacksonville first baseman also scored on Herold's error.

EVERS CHARGES CAMNITZ WITH USE OF BEAN BALL

Chicago, May 27.—Manager John Evers, of the Chicago nationals, today accused Pitcher Howard Camnitz of deliberately hitting Pitcher Larry Cheney and Catcher Archer during the game at Pittsburg last Saturday, and of trying to hit Heine Zimmerman.

Evers declared he would begin a crusade to do away with the practice of certain pitchers, who aim at batters' heads. Evers said he did not permit his pitchers to aim at batters, and believed that if President Lynch would take up the question other managers would issue similar orders to their men.

BOXING IS KILLED IN ILLINOIS STATE

Chicago, May 27.—The tragic ending of the Pelkey-McCarty fight at Calgary Saturday has killed the chances of the boxing bill now before the legislature, according to the opinion of many local promoters who yesterday disposed of options on several halls, which they had secured for prospective matches, dependent on the success of the proposed law authorizing boxing matches.

The fact that McCarty's death resulted from a bout in which the principals were eight-ounce gloves, is regarded by the friends of the bill as an especially strong argument for its opponents. Several religious organizations have prepared to renew their campaign against the pending legislation.

WILLIAMS BREAKS YALE'S CLEAN SLATE

New Haven, Conn., May 27.—Williams broke Yale's record of seventeen consecutive victories by shutting out the Blue on Yale field today, 2 to 0. The game, played on a water-soaked diamond, with the drizzling rain falling at intervals, was a pitchers' battle between Gile and Hodge, with the odds slightly favoring the Yale man. Each team fielded brilliantly.

EMPIRE STATE LEAGUE

Thomasville 3, Waycross 2.

Thomasville, Ga., May 27.—(Special.)—Thomasville won the second game this afternoon by the score of 3 to 2. Day, a new recruit from Jackson, Miss., held Wahoo's Braves to seven hits, allowing no bases on balls and striking out six. Stiles held the Thomasville lads to six hits, but four were bunched in one inning, when two runs were scored. Waycross' two runs came from homers by Brouthers and Fenton. The game was featured by sharp fielding of both teams and especially of Thomasville's outfield, nine put-outs being credited to the three. Clark and Warmick were substituted for Waycross in the ninth, and both struck out.

Brunswick 9, Cordele 5.

Cordele, Ga., May 27.—(Special.)—Cordele played a listless game against Brunswick this afternoon and lost by the score of 9 to 5. Hall was hit freely and was unsupported in pinches, while Walker was also batted heavy, but the visitors strengthened up with the bases full several times and kept Cordele from crossing the home slab. Humphries featured for Cordele by making three one-handed stabs on third, and the batting of Parker featured for the visitors, getting four hits out of five times up.

Valdosta 0, Americus 0.

Valdosta, Ga., May 27.—(Special.)—In the best game probably ever played on the home grounds, neither Americus nor Valdosta could get a man across. It was a magnificent pitchers' duel between Werner and Zellars, each giving up six hits in the thirteen innings. Zellars fanned fourteen men and Werner fanned seven. Each walked two men. Americus got only three men to second and none to third. Valdosta had several chances to score, but could not do so. In the ninth, Hurley, first up for Valdosta, hit to left for three bags. Morz was purposely walked, and the next two batters could not deliver. The game was called on account of darkness.

AMERICANS HOLD OWN IN TOURNEY

Schmidt and Weber Are Now Regarded as Championship Possibilities at St. Andrews.

St. Andrews, Scotland, May 27.—The American players did well today in the second and third round of the amateur golf championship tournament. Harold Weber, of Toledo, first beat Shepherd, of the Henley club, by three up and one to play, and in the third round defeated J. F. Myles, of the Royal and Ancient club, by three up and two to play.

W. Heinrich Schmidt, of Worcester, Mass., beat Captain Bruno, of the Royal North Devon club, by six up and five to play, and later defeated Lassen, of Lytham, and St. Annes, one of the *strongest players in the north of Eng*land, by three up and two to play.

Weber and Schmidt are now regarded as championship possibilities. Weber's opponent in the third round is one of the best players in the country, and the contest aroused keen interest. Both showed splendid form. The end came at the sixteenth hole, which Weber won in a perfect five.

Young Schmidt's imperturbability caused admiring comment. Nothing ruffled him and he easily disposed of Captain Brune, a retired English cavalry officer. He encountered a tougher customer, however, in Lassen.

HOPPE DEFENDS WORLD'S TITLE

New York, May 27.—Willie Hoppe successfully defended his world's billiard championship title at 18-inch balk line, 2 shots in, against the Cuban lenger, Kodji Yamada, of Japan, here tonight, the score being 500 to 33.

Since the rules of the game were so changed that the "anchor" was barred no other such one-sided championship game has been seen. Hoppe won the bank, but failed to score when he led off. Yamada ran 15 and this was his best attempt, as in the next 16 innings he added only 18. Hoppe played masterly billiards. He nursed, drove, drew and made masse shots without hesitation.

Rockland, England, May 27.—W. G. Scott and L. G. Hornsted, driving a 15-30 horsepower Vauxhall car, today broke the world's record for twelve hours, covering 912 miles, 640 yards. This was at the rate of 76.26 miles an hour. All world records from seven to twelve hours were broken.

PRESIDENT JAMESON TO STAY AT MERCER

To Complete Term Rather Than Accept Presidency of Arkansas Institution.

Macon, Ga., May 27.—(Special.)—President S. Y. Jameson, of Mercer University, has written the trustees of Ouachita Baptist college, at Arkadelphia, Ark., that he will not accept the presidency of that institution, having decided to serve out his term as president of Mercer, which does not expire until the close of the 1914 session.

Dr. Jameson had the Arkansas college offer under consideration for three weeks and made a trip to the college to look over the situation. On his return he declared there was many things about the offer that appealed to him.

The special committee which was appointed by the board of trustees of Mercer some time ago to investigate reports of friction between President Jameson, the student body, faculty and the presidential committee will probably report to the trustees at their meeting here next Monday.

The special committee met here last February and examined a number of witnesses, but refused to disclose the nature of the report to be made to the trustees. This special committee was composed of Judge Emory Speer, of Waycross, Rev. Lansing Burrows of Americus, W. A. Tallaferro of Dublin, C. C. Callaway of Washington and Dr. W. B. Hardeman, of Commerce.

The report of this committee is awaited with considerable interest.

Special Court Term.

Macon, Ga., May 27.—(Special.)—Judge H. A. Mathews has called a special term of the superior court to be held during the two weeks beginning June 30, owing to the fact that Solicitor Rosa is unable to dispose of the congested criminal docket during the two weeks' session which ends next Saturday. The special term will be devoted almost exclusively to cases in which alleged violations of the prohibition law are charged.

This morning the grand jury returned five more indictments against the following: H. G. Marshall, cursing in the presence and hearing of ladies; for murder, for the killing of Sam Collins on May 2; J. P. Devlin, for not paying 1912 and 1913 saloon tax, for violating the prohibition law; Carter Proctor, for burglary; Estelle Adams, cursing in the presence of ladies.

Will Thomas, a negro, who attacked Sadie Bartlett, a negress, with an ax last year and fractured her skull, was found guilty this morning by a superior court jury and sentenced to ten years.

Macon Invites I. O. O. F.

Macon, Ga., May 27.—(Special.)—A big delegation of Macon Odd Fellows left this morning for the grand lodge meeting in Savannah, with a view of making a determined fight to secure the 1914 convention for Macon. The delegation goes armed with facts and figures to show the grand lodge that a big saving in mileage can be effected by meeting in this city, and in addition they have special invitations from each of the seven local lodges, the mayor and council, chamber of commerce and hotel men's association. The sixth division at the recent meeting at Cochran indorsed Macon as the next meeting place.

$110,000 for Bibb Schools.

Macon, Ga., May 27.—(Special.)—The Bibb county commissioners in special session this morning appropriated $110,000 for the use of the board of education during the ensuing year. It is expressly provided that $5,000 of this amount shall go toward the improving of the Vineville school. The women of the Vineville district of the city had petitioned for an entire new school building, claiming that the present structure is inadequate, but the commissioners would not see their way clear at this time to spare the money. It is stated, however, that the ladies will not stop at this, but will have a bill introduced in the legislature requiring that the county give $35,000 for the erection of a school building suitable to their needs.

MANY GRADS ATTENDING BRENAU COMMENCEMENT

Gainesville, Ga., May 27.—(Special.)—The distinctive feature of the thirty-fourth commencement of Brenau college is the decennial reunion of the class of 1903. The members of this class were guests of honor at the alumnae banquet on Saturday evening and today a luncheon was tendered the class by Presidents Pearce and Simmons.

The active spirit of the reunion, which is the largest and most successful in the history of the college is Mrs. Gayle Riley, who, as a student, was Anna McConnell, of Gainesville. Prominent among the members of the class are Miss Ruth Baker, of Owensboro, Ky., but now professor of ancient languages in Bethaven college, Jackson, Miss., also Mrs. Oscar Davidson, of Athens, Ga.; Miss Bonnie Brock, of Jefferson, Ga.; Mrs. H. R. Sherard, of Williamston, S. C.; Miss Lucile Canning, of Chickasha, Okla.; Mrs. Addison Combs, of Barnesville, Ga.; Mrs. J. C. Thomas, of Adel, Ga.; Mrs. L. N. McWhorter, of Doyson, Ga.; Mrs. C. T. Stoney, of Jefferson, Gr.; Miss Jula Bell McKlow, of Abbeville, Ga.; Mrs. C. R. Elick, of Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. P. M. Stevens, of Fort Logan, Colo.; Mrs. John Oates, of Charlotte, N. C., and Miss Daisy Wilson, of Atlanta, now head of the music department of the Florida School for the Blind, at St. Augustine.

Of equal interest with the visit of the class of 1903 was the presence of a large number of the Brenau colony of Atlanta. This organization is composed of forty or fifty Brenau students, who now live in Atlanta. A dozen or more of the members of the colony were prominent figures at the alumnae banquet on Saturday night, and at a box party given by Miss Florence Overton on the occasion of the annual play. The members of the Atlanta party who were in attendance were Miss Annette Tiller Brittian, Miss Mary Whartman Cox, Mrs. Mary Carter Winter, Miss Sadye Andrews, Miss Mary Louey Turner, Miss Alma Glenn, Miss Bernice Schuessler, Miss Edna Mooney, Miss Bessie Smith, Mrs. V. J. Adams, Mrs. Opal Reaves Mearns, Mrs. Wilkerson, Mrs. McCullough and Mrs. Nichols.

Bryan Thanks Morgan Firm.

Washington, May 27.—Secretary Bryan today sent J. P. Morgan & Co. the following telegram:

"I beg to thank you for your prompt repudiation of the interview attributed to Mr. Davison, of your firm. We are gratified to know he has denied the authenticity of the Paris dispatch and that your disclaimer is so full and complete. Respectfully yours,

"W. J. BRYAN."

Chapman to Catch Today; Pat Graham Is Released; Weaver Goes to the Pels

Catcher Chapman arrived in Atlanta last night and after a conference with Manager Smith at the baseball office he attached his name to a Cracker contract.

Chapman will work behind the bat in the final game of the series with the Pelicans this afternoon, receiving the slants of Jim Brady, who will celebrate his birthday by pitching the Crackers to a victory over the Pelicans.

Chapman is a rangy chap, about on the build of Jack Adams, who has caught the two games here for the Pelicans. He impressed Manager Smith very highly and the local chieftain decided to see what he looks like in action by shooting him into the pastime this afternoon.

Weaver to the Pelicans.

Orlie F. "Buck" Weaver will be loaned to the Pelicans for the remainder of the season, Manager Smith making this announcement last night. He will join the Pelicans this afternoon and will accompany the team when they pull out of here after today's game.

Finis Wilson, who pitches today's game for the Birds, is the pitcher whose official head is hanging in the balance. If he hurls a good game today, he may probably be given another chance and some one else given the pink slip.

Manager Frank will probably have to cut some one adrift when he signs Weaver.

Weaver is not turned over to the Pelicans outright, but merely loaned for the rest of the season. Manager Smith believing that he will come around alright with plenty of work.

Weaver pitched for the Birds before. He and Charley Frank understand one another thoroughly, and he is glad to get his former star back again.

Graham Is Released.

Pat Graham was given his outright release late yesterday afternoon and is now free to sign with whom he pleases. Just who he will hook on with is not known.

Three Narrow Escapes At Motordrome Tuesday

Three motorcyclists grazed death at Jack Prince's motordrome on the old fair ground yesterday. One of them slid past the Grim Reaper by less than the width of his scythe. The other two had calls that were close enough to last the ordinary man a lifetime.

Henry Lewis had the narrowest escape. Lewis is an old trick bicycle rider of vaudeville fame, and once looped-the-loop with Ringling's circus. Of late years he has been captain of the motorcycle police of Fort Worth. He has kegs of money. He gave up a good job for the lure of the motorcycle game. Though of long experience in the racing game, on dirt tracks, Lewis never tackled the boards until yesterday.

When he started out Jack Prince called to him, "Go slow, Henry. The top of the track is not finished. Go slow and stay down."

Lewis started out slowy enough, but finding the thing no great sensation for a man who has looped-the-loop and ridden the Globe of Death, he turned on the juice. Now the peculiarity of running on a banked track is that the faster you go the harder you are forced toward the top.

Lewis "Hits Her Up."

When Lewis "hit her up," the machine started almost straight up the incline. The other riders, knowing Lewis for a daredevil, gathered to see his first attempt, and when they saw him headed for the still unprotected top, shouts of "There he goes. He's off the track. My God!" went up from the seasoned riders.

But Lewis wrestled the machine, conquered it within six inches of the point where the boards leave off and eternity begins, straightened it out and whizzed down the incline. Then, either losing his head, or from sheer daredevilry, he threw on the power again, dashed to the very top, shut off and again slid down.

By this time Jack Prince was tearing out his hair, and when Lewis whizzed by the clubhouse he flagged him down. The next time around he slowed up at the paddock and came in grinning.

"Don't worry about me," he said; "that thing can't throw me."

And in the afternoon he was at it again. But the thousand spectators who saw it are shuddering still.

McNeil's Tire Blows.

Yesterday, while riding 85 miles an hour, the front tire of Jack McNeil's famous "Jap" machine went down. Ordinarily, when a man's front tire blows at high speed the ambulance corps scrapes him up. But fortunately for the Scotchman he had an easy-out, instead of a blow-out. His tire went down comparatively slowly and he managed to keep his wheel steady until it slowed down.

The third close call felt to the lot of Freddie Luther, the Fort Worth boy rider. Luther was riding at good speed close to the top of the track when a fellow boy in the grand stand threw his cap at him. The cap dropped over Luther's face and for a second hid his eyes. Then, by a life-saving piece of good fortune, the cap slipped down and Luther straightened out his machine and tore around the track.

MRS. PAINE REMAINS IN CHAMPION FIGHT

Contenders at Memphis for the Southern Honors Reduced to Eight.

Memphis, Tenn., May 27.—Today's play in the tournament of the Women's Southern Golf association narrowed the contenders for southern championship honors to eight, and, with several exceptions, the survivors of the first round of match play won from comparative ease. Mrs. F. G. Jones, of Memphis, the present title holder, won her match nine up and 5 to play, while Mrs. E. W. Daley, of Nashville, who was Mrs. Jones' opponent in the finals last year, defeated Mrs. A. B. Newell, of Nashville, five up and four to play.

The others still in the championship fight are Miss Jeanette Lath and Mrs. T. H. Seymour, of Nashville; Mrs. T. S. Paine, of Atlanta; Miss Anne Watkins, Chattanooga; Mrs. J. D. Varnell, Knoxville, and Mrs. S. H. Phillips, of Memphis.

The closest match today was between Mrs. Varnell and Miss Belle Roberts, of Birmingham. Mrs. Varnell won, one up.

Mrs. C. F. Meehan, of Montgomery, won the driving contest today with a competed. Mrs. F. G. Jones, of Memcompeted. Mrs. F. C. Jones, of Memphis, won the approaching and putting contests.

Promoter, Referee And Managers Are Arrested by Police

Calvery, Alta., May 27.—William McCarney, Tommy Burns and Ed Smith, three of those most active in the staging of the Arthur Pelkey-Luther McCarty championship which resulted in the death of the latter in the prize ring at the Burns arena, Saturday were arrested late today and charged with manslaughter, for the defendants said tonight he believed McCarty had suffered his injury in a previous fight and that the slightest blow would have caused his death.

One of the developments of the day was the suit for criminal libel filed by Burns against the Rev. J. C. Seymore, of the First Baptist church, who is said to have stated in the pulpit on Sunday that the Saturday affair was murder pure and simple, and that those promoting the contest should be deported. Burns declares he will file suit against other ministers who made similar remarks.

GEORGIA-ALABAMA.

Gadsden 5, Newnan 2.

Gadsden, Ala., May 27.—(Special.)—In a fast, snappy game the champions took the second of the series with Newnan, 5 to 2. Sigmon and Hawkins both pitched good ball. Gutierez's fielding was a feature.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
Newnan . . . . .101 000 000—2 3 2
Gadsden . . . . .121 000 01x—5 7 2

Anniston 9, Opelika 6.

Anniston, Ala., May 27.—(Special.)—Anniston came back with a vengeance this afternoon and blanked Opelika by the very one-sided score of 9 to 0. The majority of those at the park gave Young credit for a no-hit game, although the official scorer allowed Ery a scratch hit. Manager Hannon, of the Anniston club, thinks he should have been credited with an error on this play, which would have given Young a no-hit record.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
Opelika . . . . .000 000 000—0 1 4
Anniston . . . . .500 102 10x—9 9 4

Talladega 2, LaGrange 1.

Talladega, Ala., May 27.—(Special.) Talladega defeated LaGrange this afternoon in a pretty game, 2 to 1. Both Schuessler and Cantley pitched fine ball, but Talladega outplayed the visitors. The locals gave Schuessler credit for being the best visiting pitcher on the home diamond this season.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
Talladega 2 4 4
LaGrange 1 4 3

Batteries—Cantley and Billingsly; Schuessler and McGee.

Tennis Practice.

Boston, May 27.—Four aspirants for Davis international honors, namely, N. Doust and Horace Rice, of Australia, and Maurice E. McLoughlin and R. Norris Williams, of America, played two interesting exhibition matches at the Longwood Cricket club today, the Australians meeting a local pair in both matches, the Americans trying out their singles game against each other.

Doust and Rice vanquished N. W. Niles and A. S. Dabney, former eastern doubles champion, while McLoughlin defeated Williams for the third time in ten months.

Waycross Chautauqua.

Waycross, Ga., May 27.—(Special.)—Tonight the second annual chautauqua came to an end, after an unusually successful week. The financial end of the chautauqua was reported in better shape than ever before, and from the patrons' viewpoint there was a great improvement over last year. The chautauqua association will probably arrange without delay for the third chautauqua, to be given at about the same time of the year next year as this chautauqua.

SHERIFF'S POSSE BATTLES BANDITS

Two Badly Wounded as Result of Attempt to Hold Up the Telegraph Operator at Hugo.

Cartersville, Ga., May 27.—(Special.) Deputy Sheriff J. P. Gaines, of Bartow county, and Frank Nation, an alleged hold-up man, were seriously wounded early this morning in a battle fought between a sheriff's posse and six men, alleged to be bandits, who, only a few minutes before, had demanded "the life of Telegraph Operator Thomas Scorrells or $40." Nation and two other men were captured after 100 shots had been fired in the running battle, which took place at Hugo, a small telegraph station of the Western and Atlantic railroad, six miles from Cartersville.

Deputy Sheriff Hicks, of Cobb county, Special Agent F. C. McIntyre, of the Western and Atlantic, and a posse, with dogs, are following the trail of the other three bandits.

The battle with the officers followed a hold-up that savors of western frontier days. Scorrells and his friends are alleged to have run an illicit distilling plant Sunday afternoon. It is claimed that the plant was damaged to the extent of $40.

"Money or Life."

About 11 o'clock last night a gang of six men, alleged to have been led by Frank Nation, pounded the telegraph tower, and at the point of guns, demanded that the operator give them $40. Scorrells was unable to furnish the money and the alleged bandits are said to have cut the wires.

Through an oversight of the men, communication was not stopped to Junta, a short distance from Hugo. Scorrells called for help and Junta notified Cartersville.

Special Agent F. C. McIntyre, of the Western and Atlantic railroad, who lives here, organized a posse consisting of deputy sheriffs and others and went to the scene on a freight train.

At the same time Deputy Sheriff Hicks, of Cobb county, was notified and accompanied by his brother, Bob Hicks, left with his dogs in an auto, both parties arriving there at about the same time.

Frank Nation and his gang anticipated the arrival of the officers and left Hugo. The officers immediately gave chase and overtook the men, and a fusillade of shots was the result. The officers captured three of the gang and lodged them in jail.

The three alleged bandits who were taken were Frank Nation, John Goddard and Engel Haney. All were taken to Marietta this morning and placed in jail there.

Elberton Commencement.

Elberton, Ga., May 27.—(Special.)—The closing exercises of the Elberton public schools were held last night, the crowning feature being the address of Professor R. E. Park, of the University of Georgia. Monday morning the class exercises were held, and the graduating exercises proper came off last night, when Miss Marian Wilcox read the salutatory and Joe Boyd Haley the valedictory. Professor Parks' address won him many friends as a speaker and educator. The graduating class consisted of eleven girls and four boys. The next tenth grade will have 24 members out of an enrollment of 550.

Steed, county school commissioner, addressed the graduating class.

MOULTRIE CHAMBER HOLDS BIG MEETING

Moultrie, Ga., May 27.—(Special.—The most enthusiastic meeting the chamber of commerce ever held in this city was pulled off last night at the invitation of Hon. W. C. Vereen, who was host. Plans were actually put on foot for the organization of companies for the building of a cold storage plant, crate factory and canning factory.

Four thousand dollars was raised by voluntary subscription for the support and maintenance of the chamber of commerce during the balance of this year.

Speeches were made by representative citizens and all present pledged themselves to get behind the various projects and push them to a successful conclusion.

Lavonia, Ga., May 27.—(Special.)—The public schools of Lavonia came to a close this week after a very successful year. The commencement sermon was preached Sunday, May 25, by Dr. J. J. ATLANTA'S STRIDES, DAY BY DAY

ALL THE NEWS OF REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING

The owners and managers of the office buildings and apartment houses of Atlanta met in the chamber of commerce hall yesterday and perfected an organization under the name of the Association of Building Owners and Managers of Atlanta. They expect to attain a membership of at least forty at once.

By this organization the owners and managers of the buildings of the city expect to gain great benefit both for themselves and their patrons.

They will send a delegation to Cincinnati next month and try to bring the 1914 convention of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers to Atlanta. They have already considerable assurance that they will secure this convention. They are also confident that if they do get it they will have in the office buildings and apartment houses of Atlanta an every-opener for the most progressive city.

A full account of this organization appears elsewhere in this issue of The Constitution.

WAR YARNS DENIED BY UNITED STATES

State Department Says Stories That Preparations Are Being Made for Conflict Are Without Foundation.

Washington, May 27.—The following statement was issued today by the state department:

"The state department has authorized the American embassy at Tokio to deny a San Francisco telegram which appeared in Japanese papers the effect that preparations were for which appeared in Japanese papers to the effect that troops of artillery were being sent to Hawaii and that the Philippine garrison was to be increased.

"A few artillerymen have been sent to Hawaii in pursuance of plans adopted before this administration began, but no increase is contemplated in the Philippine garrison. The only changes that have taken place are only the customary exchange of regiments.

"The department regrets that any newspaper or newspaper representative should send so misleading a telegram from the United States."

Allen Law Drastic, Says Johnson.

San Jose, Cal., May 27.—In a letter received today by Walter G. Mathewson, secretary of the San Jose Labor council, Governor Hiram W. Johnson declared the anti-alien-land law enacted recently is one of the most drastic laws on the subject ever introduced in the California legislature, and asserted "that any who claims to favor an alien-land law, that will stand a referendum against this law is either an idiot or is bought."

"Every clause in that law has been before the legislature for the last eight years," continued the letter, provided in one fashion or another for leasing, and the only two bills seriously discussed during Mr. Bryan's stay here, provided not only for leasing of land, but for the right to purchase and hold for a limited period as well."

Commenting on labor opposition to the alien-land law because it was regarded as less drastic than desired, the governor wrote:

Compensation Act Opposed.

San Francisco, May 27.—By a vote of 3 to 1, the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, in convention here, registered opposition tonight to the proposed workmen's compensation act now before congress.

WHAT FOLKS DON'T KNOW DOESN'T HURT THEM ANY

But it hurts you; for how can they buy from you if they don't KNOW what you sell and where you sell it?

Ignorance of your goods may be bliss for SOME. It is ANYTHING but bliss for you. And the longer you leave people in ignorance of the fact that you are there with the goods, the sooner the bank will send you notice.

Every day that you delay advertising you lose customers. It may be only one today. Tomorrow it will be two or three, the next day four, and so on. The crisp and instructive advertising of your competitors lures them away from you. If your competitors back up their statements with the goods your customers are gone forever.

It's up to you to do some tall thinking. Remove the blinders that hide the truth. Consider advertising NOT as an expense, but as an INVESTMENT that will return you dividends. There's nothing mysterious about it; it's salesmanship on paper.

Where YOU talk to only a FEW, your AD in this paper talks to THOUSANDS. "Ginger up," put your shop windows before the readers of The Constitution. Don't sit down and wait for them to come to YOU first. Go to THEM. Let them know you're alive and ready to serve them. Start the ball, get it rolling and then shove it ahead faster than ever with plain, truthful advertising in this, the standard newspaper of the south.

AGNES SCOTT WANTS PANAMA CANAL TOLLS

Fair Debaters Show That All United States Coastwise Vessels Should Pay.

It was settled beyond all peradventure that toll should be paid by United States coastwise vessels through the Panama canal, when the fair representatives of the Mnemosynean and the Propylean literary societies of Agnes Scott college last night debated the question, "Resolved, That no toll should be paid by United States coastwise vessels through the Panama canal," and the judges decided in the favor of the negative, represented by Propyleans.

In view of the fact that the powers that be were not present to hear the powerful arguments, pro and con, of course, it is still a matter of doubt as to whether the vessels will have to pay the toll, out if the international hitchbrows who have wrestled over the question had been there they would have blushed for shame at their proposing to let any vessel go through the canal free and, in all probability, then and there would have decided to double the toll.

Debaters Makes Hits.

The debate was presided over by Miss Margaret Roberts, of the Mnemosyneans, while Miss Laura Mc Towers, of the Propylean society, acted as secretary.

Misses Charolette Jackson and Sarah Hansell, of the Mnemosynean society, upheld the affirmative side of the momentous question, and he it said to their credit that although they lost the debate, they made no mean showing and faced their defeat with true sporting blood.

Misses Emma Jones and Emma Pope Moss, of the Propylean society, propounded the arguments of the negative in manner befitting members of the Georgia bar.

All four of the pretty debaters were cheered in their work with the full enthusiasm of south and with loyalty such as is found nowhere outside of college walls.

The judges were St. Elmo Massengale, of Atlanta, and Colonel Evans and Mr. Hollister, of Decatur. In view of the fact that Mr. Massengale resides furtherest from the scene of trouble which might be anticipated over a decision in so delicate an instance as a ladies' debate, he was chosen to announce the decision of the judges, while the rest of the committee discreetly stationed themselves near the door.

Winners Congratulated.

It was a tense moment for the supporters of the two societies as Mr. Massengale struggled through protectory remarks of introduction, but when at length he announced the decision a tumdemonium of shrill voices and a whirlwind of hugs and kisses gave the winning debaters, not for Mr. Massengale—reigned supreme.

Music was furnished by the glee club. The audience greeted it with a parody on the Heidelberg son, from "The Prince of Pilsen," in which Agnes Scott came in for all the endearing sentiments which the well-known roundelay attributes to Heidelberg.

Graduation exercises will be held Wednesday morning, when sixteen fair ladies will receive their diplomas.

NEW MONEY SYSTEM FOR THE ADVENTISTS

Washington, May 27.—Discussion of the readjustment of finances between the general conference and the North American conference featured today's session of the Seventh-Day Adventists of the World at Takoma Park, Md. Heretofore the general conference treasury has been receiving from the conferences which now comprise the North American conference $16,000 tithe, $158,000 as surplus tithe, $67,000 for the support of aged and disabled ministers and $476,000 for missions. Under the new arrangement all these funds except the mission fund will go to the treasury of the North American conference. The mission fund will go directly to the general conference treasury, which will care for the mission fields.

7 PERSONS SCORCHED BY BLAZING GASOLINE

Tulsa, Okla., May 27.—Seven persons were badly burned and five buildings and a lumber yard at the town of Kelfer, Okla., were destroyed today as the result of an explosion and fire occurred when a stream of gasoline, flowing down the main street of the town from an overturned 400-gallon tank, came in contact with live coals in a blacksmith's furnace.

All of those injured were in the blacksmith shop. Walter Martin, Bert Phillips, George Magee and George Bell may die. The others will recover.

POLICEMAN IS KILLED WITH HIS OWN PISTOL

Jersey City, N. J., May 27.—Patrick Considine, the policeman of Cliff Side, N. J., who was shot Saturday night with his own revolver by James Devlin, a vaudeville actor, died today at the hospital. He refused to make any charge against his assailant.

Devlin accused Considine of being too attentive to Devlin's wife.

"If you think I am the man you say I am you had better end it all by shooting me," said the policeman, proffering his revolver.

Devlin snatched the weapon and fired.

A charge of homicide was lodged against Devlin after the policeman died and he is held without bail. Mrs. Devlin, who was Mae Ellwood, an actress, and Devlin's cousin, Miss Anna Devlin, are detained as witnesses.

BEWARE THE REGISTER! IT MAKES MARRIAGE

Tallahassee, Fla., May 27.—Senator Himes' common marriage bill, providing that any man and woman who register at a hotel as man and wife are duly married, passed the senate this afternoon by an overwhelming majority. The measure is expected to pass the house without opposition.

A., B. & A. Surgeons Meet.

The annual meeting of the surgeons attached to the A., B. & A. railway will be held today at the Piedmont hotel. Twenty-five physicians will be in attendance from all over Georgia and Alabama. Important scientific papers will be read and speeches will be made during the meeting, following which will be held a banquet in the Capitol City club. The officers of the A., B. & A. surgeons are Dr. B. B. Sims, of Talladega, president; Dr. F. M. Mullino, of Montesuma, vice president, and Dr. W. S. Goldsmith, of Atlanta, secretary and treasurer.

OF THE HIGHBALL AND THE COCKTAIL

months," continued the witness, "and the doctor, apparently out of a whim, at the end of the trip measured what was left and found that I had consumed just eleven ounces."

Attorney Horace Andrews, of the defense, devoted little time to cross examination, and made no great effort to change the testimony. He interposed several objections of a minor nature, but the witness, deeply interested and attired as he seemed to be at refuting what his suit alleges was libel, always stopped short and waited for the ruling of the court.

Defends Whisky and Beer.

The witness expressed a detestation for whisky and beer. Of the latter he could remember having taken only one mouthful in his life. That was at the Deutscher club in Milwaukee, where he was urged to pay the tribute of a swallow of the amber brew. As for whisky, he got it mostly under protest upon insistence of his doctors, who put a teaspoonful of it in milk which they sometimes pressed upon, him on occasions of extreme fatigue.

In bottome, the former president's testimony showed that his brand of beer or wine when compelled to for indisposition or when the conventional-ities of public occasions required, except that he takes a glass of light wine, rarely two glasses, with his meals.

Much of the succeeding testimony was introduced to indicate that the plaintiff's physical vigor, his functional perfection, his violence of exercise and capacity for work could not exist in the person of one who got drunk, and that frequently, as the alleged libellous article in the Iron Ore charged.

Important witnesses on this phase of the examination were Dr. Alex Lambert, Colonel Roosevelt's family physician, and intimate friend of thirty years, and Dr. T. N. Rixey, surgeon general, U. S. N., retired, whose official duties during the McKinley and Roosevelt terms of office included the tele-phan to guard the presidential physical well being. Other witnesses were Jacob Riis and Gilson Gardner, the former a sociologist and writer, and the latter a newspaper man whose past 30 or more years compelled him to take close note of everything pertaining to Colonel Roosevelt.

Dr. Lambert testified he had made a special study of the heart and lungs and of the effect of alcohol, tobacco, opiates and drugs on the human system.

Roosevelt Temperate, Says Lambert.

When Mr. Andrews, on cross examination, suggested that witness' knowledge that the colonel drank at meal time did not extend to breakfasts, the doctor said:

"Oh, yes, indeed. I have frequently stayed at Roosevelt home all night and might drop in at breakfast any day, as I frequently did."

Dr. Lambert said he had given special attention to the study of alcohol-ism more than to any other line; had written a book on the subject, which was standard in the profession, and probably during his career had treated 10,000 cases of alcoholism and allied disorders.

"He is extremely temperate," testified the doctor. "His heart and liver, which if an alcoholic, would be affected, he found prodigiously healthy. Nerve rails were exported by the Carnegie company in 1902, the year after its acquisition by the corporation, than in 1897, 1898 and 1900 and 1901, he said.

RALPH COCHRAN SPEAKS AT VILLA RICA SCHOOL

Ralph O. Cochran, representative-elect from Fulton county and candidate for the United States senate to succeed Senator Hoke Smith in 1914, will discuss conservation when he delivered the literary address at the commencement of the Villa Rica High school last night. "There are two states of this union," said he, "that are incubators of all manner of theories and new ideas. Let us never distinguish Georgia from any one of the leading states in theory and experiment."

The program was as follows:

Invocation by Rev. C. A. Jamison; class song by the graduating class; music by Bernie Styles; salutory by Dora McBryer; "School of Life Educating and Progress," by Grace Hamilton. Bernie Styles and Reba Webb, Delivery of diplomas

MRS. WILSON FIGHTS WASHINGTON SLUMS

Washington, May 27.—Washington's slums will be cleaned out if the influence and active work of the white house family count for anything. Mrs. Wilson has made several quiet trips of inspection through the capital's unsightly alleys, and today she joined other prominent women in attending a meeting of the Women's Department of the National Civic Federation. There a letter was read from President Wilson approving the movement for wiping out disreputable alleys and providing sanitary homes at low rentals for the poor.

Later Mrs. Wilson went to the capitol to hear Repres.ntative Borland, of Missouri, speak in the house in favor of the movement.

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS HEADED BY SOLOMON

Columbia, S. C., May 27.—The Southern Wholesale Druggists' association, composed of druggists from North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, began its annual meeting here today. Two business sessions were held and officers were re-elected as follows:

R. A. Solomon, Savannah, Ga., president; A. J. Geer, Charleston, S. C. secretary and treasurer.

The session will continue through tomorrow.

This afternoon the visiting delegations were given an automobile ride about the city, and tonight they were guests at a banquet given by a local wholesale drug company.

W. T. ELLIS HONORED BY DAVIDSON COLLEGE

Charlotte, N. C., May 27.—Davidson college, the historic North Carolina Presbyterian institution which President Wilson attended as a student, at its commencement today conferred the degree of Doctor of Laws on William T. Ellis, of Swarthmore, Pa., traveler-journalist, who delivered the commencement address upon "America's World Mission." Davidson's new president, Dr. W. J. Marlin, will be inducted into office tomorrow. This institution has the largest body of undergraduate students of any Presbyterian institution in the south and has this year over seventy candidates for the ministry. This completes the seventy-sixth year of the college's history.

ELLIS WHITMAN, FREAK, AT THE GRADY HOSPITAL

Ellis Whitman, the man who can dislocate nearly all the bones in his body and then set them back into socket again, gave a demonstration to the doctors at the Grady hospital yesterday. The hospital physicians had known of some similar cases, but had never seen a man who could go quite as far towards taking himself apart and putting himself together again as this one could.

During the day Whitman played a practical joke on a local physician. Going into the doctor's office with his shoulder thrown out of joint, he claimed to have happened to an accident which dislocated it. The doctor was just about to treat the young man under an anaesthetic for an operation when he slipped the shoulder back into place.

Local physicians are interested in the method used by Whitman in putting his bones back into socket when once dislointed. They hope to have him give a demonstration before the Fulton County Medical Society to show how he does it.

ROOSEVELT NOT FOOLED BY STEEL TRUST CHIEFS

Evidence to Show Colonel Was Honestly Advised About T. C. and I. Deal.

New York, May 27.—Testimony to prove that Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, and H. C. Frick, a director, did not deceive President Roosevelt, as alleged by the government, when they told him it was necessary for the corporation to take over the Tennessee Coal and Iron company to stop the panic of 1907, was introduced by the defense today in the government suit to dissolve the corporation as an illegal combination. The testimony was given by Thomas W. Joyce, a security clerk in the office of J. P. Morgan & Co.

According to the government complaint, Gary and Frick misrepresented the facts when they told President Roosevelt that the brokerage firm of Moore & Schley had a majority of the stock of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company, and that the firm would fail and the panic be accentuated unless it were purchased. The stock pledged as collateral for loans was exchanged for bonds of the United States Steel corporation. It is charged, however, that Moore & Schley had an amount of the stock even approximating a majority.

Today Mr. Joyce testified that on Sunday, November 3, 1907, the day before Gary and Frick went to Washington to see the president, he had made an examination of Moore & Schley's books, at the direction of Mr. Morgan, and found that firm had 157,700 shares out of the Tennessee company's total outstanding stock of 298,000 shares, of which only 26,000 shares were not tied up in collateral pledged for loans. He said no one except himself and Mr. Morgan at the meeting of financiers held that night at the Morgan library.

Mr. Gary followed Joyce on the stand but after testifying briefly concerning the organization and growth of the Illinois Steel company, of which he was a director in the early days of the organization, he was excused until tomorrow. It is expected he will be on the stand several days. The examination of James A. Farrell, vice president of the corporation, was completed today.

The custom of "dumping American steel products abroad during periods of depression in the domestic market" was one of the subjects about which he was questioned.

Mr. Farrell testified on direct examination that previous to the organization of the corporation the over-seas markets used by American steel companies, only for dumping purposes, and that the steel corporation "had to live down" this business which it inherited from its export trade, today said that the over-sea's markets had been used for dumping purposes. "Generally speaking," he could recall only one company that engaged in the practice—the Carnegie company—and it that case it was intermittent.

In 1898 one-third of the steel rail production of the Carnegie company went to Canada, Mr. Farrell testified. Nerve rails were exported by the Carnegie company in 1902, the year after its acquisition by the corporation, than in 1897, 1898 and 1900 and 1901, he said.

The rapidity with which the space of the Hurt building is being rented and leased leads to the prediction that all the floor space in the Healy building will be leased by the time it is completed, which will be about a year from now. An entire floor of the Hurt building has been leased within the last week to one concern, and much of the smaller space has also been disposed of.

LATEST REPORTS FROM ALL OF THE MARKETS

JUNE COTTON LOSES, OTHER MONTHS GAIN

Market Rallied From Opening Decline on Covering and Closed Steady.

New York, May 27.—Favorable weather reports failed to stimulate any aggressive selling in the cotton market today and prices rallied, on covering, with the close steady at a net decline of 2 points on June, but generally from 2 to 8 points net higher.

The opening was steady at a decline of 1 to 2 points in response to the rather disappointing character of favorable view of weather conditions, expectations of a bearish weekly weather bureau and a private crop report making the condition 84 per cent against 78.5 last year and a 10-year average June condition of 79.9. There was a little foreign selling and some scattering liquidation, but offerings were not heavy and there was enough demand to check the decline at about the opening figures.

A rally of 2 or 3 points was followed by some irregularity, but the market became more active and firmer during the early afternoon, with the old crop selling about 4 points above last night's figure, while the new crop showed gains of from 11 to 12 points, on covering of shorts and a moderate demand from trade sources.

The weekly weather report was considered generally favorable, except for a mention of low temperature in the central, but evidently inspired no speculative pressure and the absence of selling orders helped to render shorts uneasy.

Reports that the final figures of the National Ginners' association made the condition of the crop only 80.7 per cent and placed the increase in acreage at 3.2 per cent seemed largely responsible for the flurry of covering on the early afternoon advance, while there was also a report from a private source making the condition only 78.5 per cent. These reports were taken by some traders as indicating that the market had been discounting rather a more favorable condition figure from the government next Monday than was likely to be received, but a good deal of cotton was encountered within 5 points of Monday's high record for October contracts and closing prices were 5 or 6 points off from the best.

Cotton, spot unchanged; middling uplands, 12; sales, none.

WHEAT WAS WEAKER AT SESSION'S CLOSE

Although a Bullish Sentiment Pervaded Market During Day.

Chicago, May 27.—Dry weather complaints from both northwest and the southwest made sentiment bullish most of the time today in the wheat pit. At the opening and close, however, the market showed weakness. Compared with last night the finish ranged from 1-8 decline to 3-8@1-2c advance. In corn there was a net loss of 2-4@7-8 to 3@3 1-8c, and for oats a fall of 1-4 to 5-8c. Provisions wound up unchanged to 35c higher.

Texas reports that wheat there would be ready to harvest next week, and that the state would yield eight to ten million bushels, had considerable toward depressing prices in the final dealings. There also were late denials from Oklahoma millers that that state would amount to only 15,000,000 bushels. Early bearishness was due largely to improved field prospects in Europe. Damage reports indicated a decided spreading of crop injury in the United States.

The Kansas outlook appeared to be lowered. Missouri sent word of hessian fly havoc, and it was declared that the upper portions of Minnesota and North Dakota were suffering for moisture. Nevertheless, longs were freely taking profits at the last. Export clearances of wheat and flour equivalent to 450,000 bushels. Primary receipts of wheat were 621,000 bushels, a year ago it was 324,000.

Fine weather pulled down corn. Rural holders were quick to be rushing in shipments to meet May delivery demands.

After an early bulge, the result of export advices regarding losses in Illinois, Indiana, Missouri and Kansas, oats turned lower with other grain.

Nearly the entire provision list scored a good gain. The buying was mainly for grain traders and packers.

FRISCO STOCKS FELL TO NEW LOW RECORDS

Proposed Receivership Proceedings Caused Decline in Securities.

New York, May 27.—An event long foreshadowed in financial and railroad circles—the proposed institution of receivership proceedings against the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad—was the outstanding feature of today's stock market. The company's pressing financial needs and its inability to get assistance found reflection during the past month in the steady decline of its various securities, which reached a climax yesterday in the establishment of a series of new low records.

Long before announcement of the proposed receivership was known the common and preferred shares of the Frisco system were being liquidated, as well as the 4 per cent refunding bonds and the 5 per cent general bonds. The latter decline 8 points, the four 3½, the first preferred stock 4 and the second preferred 3¼. These quotations representing maximum losses, from which little recovery was made in the course of the session. Chicago and Eastern Illinois certificates, in which the Frisco road has a substantial interest, fell 10 points. Reorganization committees for Chicago and Eastern Illinois in Chicago after the closing hour here.

There was systematic weakness throughout the day in Rock Island issues, Missouri Pacific, Kansas City Southern and Denver and Rio Grande, common and preferred, which last two also sold at new record figures.

The news from abroad was scarcely of a hopeful character. London sold on balance here to the extent of perhaps 10,000 shares.

The general bond market showed unusual firmness in the face of liquidation in Frisco and allied issues. United States government 2s fell ½ per cent on call. Total sales, par value $1,572,000.

PHYSICIAN'S LICENSE NEEDED FOR WEDDING

Dr. B. L. Embry Believes His Bill Will Decrease Divorce Suits by Half.

Dr. B. L. Embry, of Villa Rica, has drafted a bill, which will be introduced at the approaching session of the general assembly, through which he hoped to cure marriage evils in Georgia.

The bill has been carefully prepared after a study of legislation along the same lines adopted in some of the other states, it will be introduced by Senator-elect J. T. Hixon, of Carroll county, and will be strongly supported by leading medical men in the state with a view to having it passed before the close of the session.

Under the strict provisions of the bill, persons applying for the marriage license must undergo a rigid examination before the county physician. The man must be over 18 years and the female over 16. Both must be of sound mind, not afflicted with tuberculosis or any infectious disease. The bill requires the ordinary before whom application is made to demand a certificate from a reputable physician that the parties are in good health.

"I expect the bill to decrease divorce suits at least 50 per cent," Dr. Embry says. "It will insure purer marriages, less suicides, less cripples and degenerates and fewer illegitimate children.

"The law will promote greater happiness in our homes, and there will be fewer widows and orphans after its passage.

Dr. Embry takes the position that the bill should be adopted without delay because it involves the health and happiness of the people. He has referred it to some of the leading lawyers in the state, and they have declared it to be one of the best pieces of legislation ogered in years. Medical men are also sincere in their praises of the measure.

According to Dr. Embry, the bill has been given favorable consideration from a number of the most thoughtful and influential members of the general assembly. He believes it will go through without amendment.

Grocers and Butchers Plan Great Parade for June 4th

The retail grocers and butchers of Atlanta, following out the plans to make the "Wednesday closing" project a city-wide movement, met at a smoker in Taft hall, last night, and completed the program for the monster parade of June 4.

More than 400 retail grocers, butchers, jobbers, merchants, clerks, salesmen and others interested in the movement attended the meeting. E. L. Adams, one of Atlanta's leading jobbers, was there representing the jobbers' association, and J. D. Simmons held up the City Salesmen's association's reputation for being on the job. Then there was Harry L. Schlesinger, father of the closing movement; Hon. John Y. Smith, representative-elect from Fulton county, and scores of others—all boosting and pulling together.

Meeting Most Enthusiastic.

F. E. Kamper, chairman of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the parade, and who has been identified with the association for several years, declared that the meeting was the most enthusiastic ever held. He optimistically stated that he believed the movement had injected more life into the association, and that the objects it hopes to attain were given greater impetus. O. T. Camp, a "live wire" of the association, said that the parade on June 4 would make Barnum & Bailey look like a side show stunt by comparison.

More than 800 grocers and retail merchants have signed the petition to close their doors at noon every Wednesday during the months of June, July and August. Even the merchants of East Point, not willing to let the Atlanta merchants get and keep with the great project with all the glory, have also joined in the movement.

According to the arransements made by Chairman Kamper, the "inaugural parade" is going to be some stunt. There will be at least three miles of decorated wagons. Three bass bands will fill Atlanta with music. Five mounted policemen will ride at the head of the procession.

The aides and marshals will be as follows: F. E. Kamper, H. Winberg, C. J. McCoy, R. H. Comer, W. J. Burton, J. H. Merritt, J. F. McNair and W. A. Byers. Each of the aides will appoint five assistants to ride with them.

The wagons will form on Washington, Hunter, Mitchell, Whitehall and other streets near the state capitol. The wholesale merchants have promised to send their auto trucks into the parade, decorated. The packers will lend assistance, and the commission merchants, bakeries, ice manufacturers and others are going to compete against each other in an effort to carry off the honors for the most tastefully decorated wagon or truck.

Merchants and Clerks to March.

The merchants and clerks will march through the streets. Some of the men are contemplating appearing in unique costumes. Chairman Kamper, addressing the meeting, Tuesday night, said that it was the duty of every clerk interested in the movement to join the parade and help make it the biggest thing pulled off in Atlanta in years.

The co-operation of the jobbers was pledged through E. L. Adams. He said the closing movement will develop greater efficiency among the clerks. Representative Smith not only promised to support the association in the closing movement, but gave the assurance that he would lend a willing ear to all its appeals for protective legislation. Harry L. Schlesinger, hailed as "the man who did it," tried to hand all the glory to O. T. Camp. John McCullough, one of the leading commission merchants of Atlanta, in a brief but humorous address, heartily indorsed the movement. Olin Stamps said that he hoped soon to see the wholesalers close every Saturday during the year at noon.

A vote ofthanks to the association was extended by the clerks to the employers. L. E. Rogers suggested that every member of the association work to make the Wednesday afternoons enjoyable. He emphasized the necessity of having regular outings. And Bratton, of the Georgia Retail Merchants' association, urged the members of the association to aid in making the convention which will be held here in July a success. He said that more than 1,000 delegates will be present, and that they will go to the capitol and urge the passage of the garnishment law and the bill making it a felony for one to pass a worthless check.

TIER TO GRAND STAND COLLAPSES AT SHORTER

Several Painfully Hurt in Accident During Presentation of Play in College Forest.

Rome, Ga., May 27.—(Special.)—Several were painfully hurt this afternoon when one tier of the improvised grandstand at Shorter college collapsed while 1,000 people were watching the students present "As You Like It" in the "Shorter Forest," a short distance from the college. The tier which broke was only a few feet from the ground, and this fact prevented the accident from being disastrous.

The year ended tonight with a brilliant banquet in the dining room of the dormitory.

The literary address this morning by Dr. E. M. Poteat, of Furman university, was a brilliant effort.

Fifteen young women were given diplomas at the closing exercises.

Late this afternoon a special train over the Southern carried hundreds of students to Atlanta, from which place they went to their homes in middle and south Georgia.

Plans to Value Railways.

Washington, May 27.—Preliminary plans for a physical valuation of railroads were discussed today at a conference between members of the interstate commerce commission and presidents or directing heads of the principal American railway systems. The commission's ideas, so far as they have been worked out, were submitted, and the railroad men, who are required by the law to co-operate in making the physical valuation, declared their intention of undertaking their part of the task immediately in conformity with the view outlined.

To Hold Fire Companies.

Jefferson City, Mo., May 27.—Attorney General Barker today filed in the state supreme court his brief in support of his petition for a quo warranto writ to prevent fire insurance companies from withdrawing from Missouri. The attorney general charged that the companies, being foreign corporations, have no powers in Missouri except to write fire insurance, and are not authorised to combine on rates. He asked that a restraining order be issued, prohibiting the companies from withdrawing, and that the companies be fined for agreeing to withdraw.

THREE CARS CRASH ON PEACHTREE ST.

John McCullough Has Narrow Escape When His Car Is Hit by Roberts' Machine.

Only by a miracle did John McCullough, of 147 Juniper street, escape death yesterday at noon when a car, driven by Forrest Roberts, ran into his car, knocked off one of the rear wheels and turned the car completely over, pitching Mr. McCullough out.

The accident happened at Peachtree and Sixth streets. Mr. McCullough was coming in from Peachtree road, and started to turn down Sixth street to go home to dinner. Just as he did so, Forrest Roberts, who was behind him, ran into him. The impact of the shock threw the Roberts car back on the car behind him, driven by Reed Brown.

Mr. McCullough was able to walk to his home, as only a few bruises and scratches had been sustained. Mr. Brown's car suffered about $10 damage by the impact of Mr. Roberts' car bumping back into him.

The entertainment began at 11 o'clock, as many members of the local were compelled to fill engagements earlier in the evening. A delightful dinner was served, and as it was in progress a splendid orchestra, composed of members of 148 furnished music. A feature was an address by Carl Karston, a leading member of the local, and S. H. Brady, president of the Atlanta Federation; William Strauss, state organizer of the State Federation, and H. G. Wood, vice president of 148, also spoke.

Son by First Wife Gets Little. Few Personal and Public Bequests.

St. Augustine, Fla., May 27.—The will of Henry M. Flagler was filed here today. By its provisions, J. R. Parrott, president of the Florida East Coast railroad, is to retain that post as long as he desires. The will states that this is in recognition of Mr. Parrott's great executive ability and his loyal and faithful service.

To the widow is left the bulk of the $100,000,000 estate, it being provided that the estate shall not be divided for five years by J. R. Parrott, W. W. Beardsley and William R. Keenan, Jr., as trustees, during which time Mrs. Flagler is to receive $100,000 annually. To Harry Flagler, his son, Mr. Flagler left 5,000 shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey stock, said to be valued at $5,000,000.

Among other bequests is that of $100,000 to Hamilton college of Clinton, N. Y. Other colleges mentioned in the will as beneficiaries are cut off by codicils, as having been otherwise aided since the will was made. To J. R. Parrott, Mr. Flagler left $100,000, and to W. H. Beardsley, of New York, $50,000. The Flagler Memorial church, where the Florida millionaire is buried, is to receive $75,000. Many smaller bequests were made to friends and servants.

The will, made in 1898, bears six codicils.

Stinson Speaks for Schools.

New York, May 27.—(Special.)—Rev. Richard D. Stinson, head of the Atlanta Normal and Industrial college, Atlanta, Ga., addressed the New York annual conference today, Bishop Evans Tyree, of Nashville, Tenn., presiding. Rev. Stinson told how the school is aided by the wealthy white people of Atlanta. He declared that practical education is the salavation of the negro youth. He thinks that the negro south is doing more in a permanent way than the negro north. Dr. R. C. Ransom, J. McDonald of Kansas City, W. H. Giles and Dr. A. R. Cooper also spoke.

AT THE THEATERS

"St. Elmo."

(At the Atlanta.)

This afternoon Miss Billy Long and her associates will be seen in a 25-cent matinee performance of "St. Elmo," pronounced the favorite play of stock patrons in Atlanta. This play has a strong hold on the public, and is given in fine shape by the company at the Atlanta. The scenic effects are little less than wonderful, while the acting of Miss Long, Mr. Vail and other members of the company is surpassingly good. The play will remain at the Atlanta all the week, with performances every night and another matinee Saturday.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Maggie Cline, "The Irish Queen," is the headliner at the Forsyth this week, offering precisely the same act that she has done for years and years, with the simple addition of some modern numbers that she does in real headline fashion. The Great Howard, the Scotch ventriloquist, has scored a real hit, as has Casare Nesi, the young vocalist. Madden and Fitzpatrick have an act that is fine, especially the piano specialty, and Kirk and Forgarty have won favor.
